The total fall of rain from 17th to 23rd May 1903	Nil
The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor General's Office	0 83
The total fall from 1st January to 23rd May 1903	3 64
The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years Surveyor General's Office	7 79

The mean pressure temperature, &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A M of that day

o, overcast, t, thunder

The anemograph being under repair wind velocities are recorded from 8 A.M of the preceding day to 8 A M of the day

THE yearly examination of candidates for fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on Monday and Tuesday the 6th and 7th July 1903, at 10 30 A M, both days

SUBJECTS

Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.)	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole)	240	160

Total	600

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners
(b) Book keeping by Ball and Hamilton
Book keeping by double and single entry by W Inglis (Chambers Educational Course)

The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal Assam and Burma only The examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non pensionable establishment on State Railways

*This rule has not the effect of making employment under Local Boards and Municipalities pensionable if they are not pensionable by the British Government

2 The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner

Certificates may be submitted in original or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch but none will be returned —

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed or to whom he may be well known (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth, not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ)

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's handwriting

NOTE —A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner submit his application through his immediate official superior to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination which he should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide on a consideration of the certificates submitted whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination or whether his application should be rejected The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal, for registration, the names of the accepted candidates The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts This statement, together with the fees should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates

3 Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4 Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5 If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid will not be refunded

6 Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed

7 It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department

8 The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department

9 Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination at the Sibpur College centre only but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant General Public Works Department

10 Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College not later than 30 days previous to the examination, the application to be accompanied by the fee of Rupees Ten

REMARKS —The Bengal Local Self Government Act of 1885 was in force in 1901 1902 in all the districts of the Province except the following —

Darjeeling	Sonthal Parganas
Singhbhum	Chittagong Hill Tracts

In the Darjeeling district and in the Dalbhum and Porahat parganas of the Singhbhum district the Cess Act of 1880 was in force during the year under review It was also in force in certain tracts of the Sonthal Parganas from 1st September 1901, while the other parganas of the Singhbhum district and other tracts of the Sonthal Parganas and the Chittagong Hill Tracts district were not under the operations of either of the above Acts

RECEIPTS

2 In the districts in which the Cess Act was in force, the cess was levied at the maximum rate allowed by law, while in those districts which were not under the operations of the Act, and in which therefore there were no cess collections, funds were provided by grants in aid The receipts for the year 1901 1902, compared with those of the previous year, are shown below —

Vice Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Singhbhum

Chairman District Road Cess Committee, Singhbhum

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Sonthal Parganas, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the district for the year 1901 1902

[Vide letter No 122P W dated 2nd June 1902 from C H Bompas Esq c s Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee of Sonthal Parganas to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division and Sonthal Parganas]

1 The Local Self Government Act was not in force in the district during the year The provisions of the Cess Act, IX of 1880, were extended to certain selected tracts under Government notification No 4489R P, dated the 20th August 1901, with effect from the 1st September 1901 But there were no cess collections during the year the valuation of the selected tracts being taken in hand late in the year was not been completed

2 The District Road Committee of the Sonthal Parganas, consisting of nine members was formed by Government notification No 4790R P dated the 3rd September 1901 but the fund continued to be administered by the Deputy Commissioner till the end of November 1901, when the formal transfer of the unspent balance at credit of the late District Road Account to the new District Road Fund under the disposal of the Committee was sanctioned in Bengal Government, Financial Department letter No 5429R P, dated the 25th November 1901

3 Working of the Committee —The Committee consisted of nine members, of whom three were official and the rest non official The latter all belong to the class of landed proprietors or are gentlemen of analogous position The Committee held three meetings the first of which was on the 5th October 1901 The average attendance of members was 5 7 and the percentage of average attendance was 62 9

4 The year opened with a cash balance of Rs 24 775 and with a receipt of Rs 94 267 The amount available for expenditure during the year was Rs 1,19 042 of which Rs 90 734 was spent leaving a closing balance of Rs 28,308 which is excessive There being no cess collections, the receipts of the year consisted mainly of the Government grants in aid The following table compares the receipts of the year under several heads with those of the previous year —

	1900 1901 Rs	1901 190 Rs
Balance on 1st April	24,015	24 775

Deposit for Provincial Civil Works		11 783
Total Receipts	92 14	94 267
Grand Total (including balance)	1 16 158	1 19 042

5 XXV—Miscellaneous —The increase under sub heads "Fees fines and forfeitures is owing to the forfeiture of security deposits by contractors on account of bad work or failure to execute their contracts in time The increased revenue in the year 1900 1901 under sub head "Miscellaneous was merely an incidental one, being the refund into the treasury of the balance of imprest with the District Engineer on the introduction of the system of permanent advance

6 XXXII—Civil Works —The increase in receipts from staging bungalows was owing to much greater collections from Dumka and Rajmahal dâk bungalows

The receipt under ferry tolls is altogether a new item and arose out of the three ferries—Mahuo Dhobai and Bhurbhuri—having been for the first time settled by public auction during the year

The increase under sub head "Miscellaneous" is mainly due to the value of a large number of tools and plant found missing on recounting having been recovered from the parties in fault The income on this account alone amounted to Rs 631

7 The grants from Government were composed of the following —

	Rs
(a) Annual fixed grant for road works	60,000
(b) Annual grant for miscellaneous public improvements in Government estate	7,124
(c) Pay and allowance of a Sub Overseer to look after Public Works buildings, 1900 1901 and 1901 1902	1,200
(d) 1½ per cent on collections from Government estates	217
Total	68,541

During the year the grants received for works and repairs in connection with Imperial and Provincial Civil Buildings, which had been formerly treated as receipts under this head were shown as a separate item under suspense head—"Deposits' under instructions from the Accountant General, Bengal This accounts for the decrease under grant from Government

EXPENDITURE

8 The following table shows the outlay incurred in 1901 1902 compared with that of the previous year —

		1900 1901 Rs	1901 1902 Rs

	Balance on 31st March	24,775	28,308
	Grand Total	1,16 458	1,19,042

9 The total expenditure under "Land Revenue" was Rs 11,683 during the year 1901 1902 against Rs 14,468 in the previous year The increase under 'Administration" was due to the payment of the pension to the late Accountant for the last two months of the previous year having been made during the year

The permanent District Engineer having resigned and the service of the officiating incumbent being a pensionable one, no contribution towards the Provident Fund deposit in favour of the District Engineer had to be made during the greater part of the year, hence the decrease under Provident Fund contribution The expenditure of Rs 45 under "Miscellaneous was incurred in sending down four weavers and one carpenter to Serampore for instruction in the system of fly shuttle weaving Rupees 2 816 was spent on "Civil Buildings—New Works' against Rs 8,004 in the previous year The cause of this decrease was owing to the fresh grants received during the year on the above account, and the expenditure therefrom being credited and debited to a different sub head 'Deposits for Imperial and Provincial Civil Works" as stated above in paragraph 7 The expenditure of Rs 2,816 incurred out of the allotments received in the previous year was accounted for in the year The decrease under 'Civil Buildings—Repairs is also due to the same ground a nominal sum of Rs 99 having been spent on repairs to the Road office buildings and godown attached to it The large increase of expenditure under Communications—New Works" was mainly owing to the two works having been sanctioned and undertaken during the year, viz —

(1) Stone metalling of Dumka Rampurhat road on which Rs 3 840 was spent
(2) Gokha bridge, on which Rs 6,849 was spent for the purchase of materials

The allotment of Rs 5,000 originally provided for repairs to the Dumka Rampurhat road was cut down to Rs 2 407 in order to provide funds for the original work on the same road The allotments on some other roads could not be utilized to the fullest extent These will account for the decrease of expenditure under "Communications—Repairs" The decrease under "Establishment' is due to the Officiating District Engineer who worked during the greater part of the year having been paid his salary at half the rate sanctioned for the post and the travelling allowance at second class rate A small sum of Rs 39 was only spent in purchasing furniture and crockery for the dâk bungalows against Rs 181 in the previous year hence the decrease under "Petty establishment

10 Original Works —The principal works carried out during the year in this district were as follow —

LAND REVENUE

(1) Constructing a bridge over Gumra river on which Rs 1,154 was spent, bringing up the total to Rs 6 390
(2) Improving Sahebganj town with an expenditure of Rs 1 282
(3) Metalling Brahmoni to Katikund road completed at a cost of Rs 566
(4) Diversion of Godda Simlong road on which an expenditure of Rs 5 '8 was incurred

14 There were altogether 793 miles of scheduled roads in the district. The repairs were executed on all of those roads, except Kumrabad road, which is being annually repaired by the zamindar of Belpatta

A sum of Rs 353 out of the donation of Rs 6 000 made by the Raja Bahadur of Hetampur was spent in repairing Ranigram Ashanboni and Ranibahal Baboopur roads which pass through his estates

15 No inspection bungalows or huts were constructed or were under construction under the Road Fund The existing ones were maintained in fairly good condition, the cost of repairs having been charged to the roads on which they are situated Steps were also taken to provide each inspection bungalow with suitable furniture and crockery, for which an expenditure of Rs 884 was incurred during the year

There were however, five bungalows under construction in the Damin out of the Estate Improvement Fund, which, it is expected, will shortly be completed These are located as under—

Rajmahal Damin—	Godda Damin—
One at Boria	One at Boarijori
One at Brindaban	Dumka Damin—
One at Banjhee	One at Jhilimile

16 The receipts and expenditure of the three dâk bungalows under the District Road Committee are compared with those of the previous year in the following table —

18 Sanitation —Nothing was spent on this account from the District Road Fund except a petty amount of Rs 15 in excavating the tank in the compound of the Rajmahal dâk bungalow A sum of Rs 706 was however, expended out of the Estates Improvement Fund towards improving the sources of water supply in the Damin The following amounts were spent in constructing new bundhs or repairing existing ones —

	Rs

19 It is reported that the water supply during the year was sufficient throughout the district and the existing sources were enough for the ordinary requirements No material improvement to the existing sources of water supply was made in any of the subdivisions or municipal area

20 The registers in Forms Nos I and II as prescribed in Government circular No 8T—M, dated the 15th May 1896, were maintained in all subdivisions of the district, as well as in the Deoghur and Sahebganj Municipalities The following statement shows the thana totals of Form I —

The mean pressure temperature &c. are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometrical results are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

RECOMMENDATION TO BE MADE BY THE DISTRICT BOARDS OF THE CHOTA NAGPUR DIVISION FOR THE NOMINATION OF A MEMBER TO THE BENGAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

No 1194A D

RESOLUTION

APPOINTMENT DEPARTMENT

Dated Darjeeling, the 1st June 1903

UNDER Rule II of the Regulations framed for Bengal by the Governor General in Council, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, under section 1 (4) of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, as amended by Notification No 2781, dated the 29th November 1899, nomination to seven seats in the Bengal Legislative Council is made by the Lieutenant Governor on the recommendation of certain bodies and Associations Those seats are at present held by the following gentlemen, who were nominated, and whose terms of office expire, on the dates shown —

Name of member	By what body or bodies recommended	Date of nomination	Date of expiry of office
1	2	3	4
The Hon'ble Dr Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya MA, DL, FRAS, FRSE	The Senate of the Calcutta University	6th Aug 1901	5th Aug 1903
The Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay	District Boards, Patna Division	20th „ „	19th „ „
The Hon'ble Babu Joy Gobind Law, CIE	The Corporation of Calcutta	27th „ „	26th „ „
The Hon'ble Maharaja Manindra Chandra Nandy, of Cossimbazar	The British Indian Association	3rd Dec „	2nd Dec „
The Hon'ble Mr A A Apcar	The Bengal Chamber of Commerce	29th Mar 1902	28th Mar 1904
„ „ Maulvi Seraj ul Islam, Khan Bahadur	District Boards, Chittagong Division	29th July „	28th July „
The Hon'ble Rai Tarini Pershad Bahadur	Municipalities, Bhagalpur Division	22nd Sept „	21st Sept „

Four of the seats will be vacated in the course of the present year, and, in accordance with practice, instructions are now issued prescribing the procedure to be followed for the selection of the gentlemen who are to be recommended to the Lieutenant Governor for nomination to three of these vacancies. The fourth vacancy, viz the Hon'ble Maharaja Manindra Chandra Nandy, of Cossimbazar, who was recommended for nomination by the British Indian Association, will not occur till the 2nd December 1903, and it is premature to take steps for filling up that vacancy.

2. The Senate of the Calcutta University and the Corporation of Calcutta have been invited to submit the names of the gentlemen whom they would respectively recommend for the Council. The selection will be made in accordance with the same procedure as on the previous occasion. A similar request will be addressed to the District Boards of the Chota Nagpur Division, which have been selected for the privilege of recommending a member for the Council to fill the vacancy that will occur on the expiry of the term of office of the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay.

3. It was stated in paragraph 5 of the Resolution of this Government, dated the 25th March 1893, that the privilege of recommending a person for nomination to the Council would be exercised by the Municipalities and District Boards in each Division according to rotation, and a sketch of the form which the rotation might assume was given. If no change were made in that rotation, it would fall to the District Boards of the Dacca Division to recommend a candidate to fill the seat which will be vacated by the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay. It was, however, stated in the Resolution that the Lieutenant Governor could not bind himself or his successors as to the exact order in which the privilege of recommending members for the Council should be exercised. In 1893 District Boards had not been formed in the Chota Nagpur Division, and consequently they did not find a place on the roster then framed. Since their formation in 1900, they have not had a representative in the Council. In these circumstances, and having regard to the fact that legislation in an amendment of the Law of Landlord and Tenant in Chota Nagpur is now under the consideration of the Bengal Council, the Lieutenant-Governor has decided to invite the District Boards of Chota Nagpur, instead of those of the Dacca Division, to submit a recommendation on the present occasion. The necessary notification has been published in the Calcutta Gazette, specifying the District Boards from which recommendation will be made to the Lieutenant Governor for nomination to the seat Each District Board will elect one representative only, and he will be entitled to exercise all the votes of the body which he represents

4 The following statement shows the District Boards which will send delegates to vote for a person to be recommended for the vacant seat and the number of votes assigned to them according to the scale shown in paragraph 3 of the Resolution of this Government, No 2307A , dated the 31st March 1897

The ordinary income taken is that for 1901 1902 —

Division	District Board	Ordinary income	Number of votes to be recorded by the representative
		Rs
Chota Nagpur	Hazaribagh	75,972	2
	Ranchi	68,675	1
	Palamau	55 708	1
	Manbhum	82,367	2

5 Under rule IV of the Regulations framed by the Governor General in Council with the approval of the Secretary of State under section 1 (4) of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, for Bengal, the Lieutenant Governor now desires that the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division will at once address the Chairman of the District Boards enumerated in the above list, requesting them to convene a special meeting of their Board at which one member of the Board may be selected to represent them for the purpose of making the recommendation for the seat in Council The name of the representative so selected must be reported at once by the Chairman to the Commissioner of the Division

6 The period of three months laid down in Rule VII of the Regulations as that within which a recommendation shall be made to the Lieutenant Governor will run from the date on which the Commissioner of the Division issues his request to the Chairmen of the District Boards

7 As soon as the representatives have been selected, they will be called upon by the Commissioner of the Division to meet together on an early and convenient date, with special reference to the limit of time imposed by Rule VII of the Regulations, and at such convenient place as he may specify, for the purpose of electing, by a majority of votes, a person whom they will recommend to the Lieutenant Governor to be nominated as a member of the Council The names of all candidates put forward at such meeting shall be duly proposed by one of the representatives present The election shall be by ballot, and the person elected must obtain a majority of the votes of the representatives present If on the occasion of the first ballot an absolute majority is not obtained, the candidate who gains the least number of votes shall be withdrawn from the election, and another ballot shall then be held for the remaining candidates and so on, until an absolute majority is obtained In the event of a tie occurring at any stage, candidates shall draw lots

8 The electoral representatives present at this meeting shall elect one of themselves to be Chairman, and he shall preside and be responsible for the fair and proper exercise of the ballot vote

9 The Chairman of the meeting shall without delay report to the Commissioner of the Division the name of the person elected with the number of votes obtained and any other information which it may appear desirable to communicate, and on behalf of the meeting shall recommend to the Lieutenant-Governor to nominate for the Council the person so elected The Commissioner shall submit the report from the Chairman of the meeting with any observations he may wish to add, to the Chief Secretary to Government, by whom the recommendation will be submitted to the Lieutenant Governor

10 Attention is drawn to the following Rule VI of the Regulations which have been framed by the Governor General in Council with the approval of the Secretary of State —

VI —It shall be a condition in the case of any person to be recommended by a Municipal Corporation or group of Municipal Corporations, that he shall be a person resident within the Municipality or the district in which it is situated, or in some one of the Municipalities constituting the group or of the districts in which they are situated A similar condition shall also apply to persons to be recommended by District Boards

EXPLANATION —A person is not "resident" within the meaning of this rule unless he has a place of residence in the locality concerned, and such practical connection with that locality as qualifies him to represent the inhabitants thereof

If at any time the question is raised whether a person proposed for election is "resident" within the meaning of this rule, the question shall be referred to, and decided by, the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

Under this rule it is not necessary that the person recommended shall be a member of any District Board concerned, but he must be resident within the Division from which the recommendation is made Subject to this conditon, the rules declare no limit of qualification, and it is left to the representatives to recommend a person under Rule V (c) according to the majority of their votes

11 It is desirable that the subsidiary arrangements now sanctioned shall, as far as possible, be given effect to by the District Boards concerned with the minimum of official interference The Divisional Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioners will, of course, afford any assistance which may be required, and will do their utmost to facilitate the smooth working of the elections, but Government officers are forbidden to take part, directly or indirectly, in the election by canvassing, influencing votes, or otherwise interfering with the free choice of the District Boards No indication should be given by any official member of any of the District Boards concerned as to the manner in which he himself intends to vote

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be furnished to the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division for information and guidance, and for communication to the District Boards in his Division

Ordered also that a copy be published in the Calcutta Gazette

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W C MACPHERSON,

Offg Chief Secy. to the Govt of Bengal

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office

The hygrometric readings are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain gauge is one foot above the ground Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A M of that day

READ—

Letter No 134, dated the 9th May 1903 from the Chairman of the Port Commissioners, Chittagong, submitting the revised estimates (actuals) of the Commissioners for the year 1902 1903 and the budget estimates for the year 1903 1904

THE statements of the actuals for 1902 1903 show a decrease of Rs 24,020 in receipts and of Rs 19,410 in expenditure as compared with the sanctioned estimates of receipts and expenditure of that year This is mainly due to the fact that, during the year the Railway jetty has been taken over by the

Assam Bengal Railway as a part of their property, and that this item will no longer appear in the accounts of the Port Commissioners

2 The Lieutenant Governor approves the statements of actual outlay and earnings for the year 1902 1903

3 The budget estimates for 1903 1904 have been based mainly on the average of the actuals of the last three years

RECEIPTS

4 The Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887, has been recently amended with the object of empowering the Commissioners to levy a "river due" on all goods landed or shipped within port limits A sum of Rs 15,000, calculated at the rate of 3 annas per ton, has been provided for under this head

The contribution by Government to the Port Fund from the Pilotage Fund has been increased from Rs 1,200 to Rs 2,500

EXPENDITURE

5 Under the head "Miscellaneous" an outlay of Rs 14,084 has been estimated for as compared with Rs 6,672, the actuals of last year The increase is mainly due to a provision for the repairs and renewal of buoys and chains and for repairs to the Salt Jetties

6 A sum of Rs 16,295 has been provided for payment of the annual instalment that will become due to the Government in 1903 1904 on account of the loan for the steam tug Gelle A sum of Rs 16,298 is still overdue from the Commissioners on this account, but the Government of India have lately sanctioned the temporary postponement of the payment of this amount

7 An abstract of the actuals for the two years 1901 1902 and 1902 1903, and of the estimates for the year 1903 1904 is subjoined

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 1903

THE chief features of the weather during May were—

(1) Almost continuous high pressure, excess at times ranging up to 15 inch
(2) Excessive temperature, more especially during the first and third weeks, when mean excess in places exceeded 10
(3) Comparative absence of rainfall over the whole Province and in Assam

As might be expected when pressure and temperature are affected by large departures from the normal and rather rapid oscillations were frequent, numerous local storms occurred in all parts of the Province Though thunderstorms were occurring almost daily in places, the rainfall was unusually light and a noticeable feature with these storms was the comparatively small fall of temperature which followed The only occasion on which a disturbance, accompanied by thunderstorms, caused moderately heavy general rain was towards the end of the month and there is reason to believe that on that occasion the cyclonic disturbance in the Arabian Sea caused the westward draft of moist air over Central India in the upper atmosphere At that time between the 24th and 29th weather in Bengal was influenced by two disturbances, one proceeding from the east, was first shown in Assam on the 24th extending westward and meeting the moist air presumably from the Arabian Sea, or in some way connected with the other disturbance in the west Weather was more unsettled in Bengal than at any other time during the month, and rainfall, in places heavy occurred in all districts

Weather was unusually settled over the Bay as no cyclonic disturbance formed The winds on the Burma coast on one or two occasions were blowing in the directions characteristic of cyclonic conditions but the change was of only brief duration These wind variations were followed by heavier rainfall in Burma and the after effects of the slight disturbances were shown in the rainfall and lower temperature as far north as Assam There was no appearance of it extending to Bengal, so that throughout the month weather in Bengal may be said to have been unaffected by any advance of monsoon winds from the Bay

The cyclonic disturbance which moved northwards over the Arabian Sea during the latter half of the month, affected weather in the south west of the Bay about the 19th when a depression was shown on the Madras coast This depression had moved westward by the 20th and its effect was confined to the variable winds and moderately heavy rainfall as far north as Cocanada

At the beginning of the month very high temperature prevailed over the whole Province excess varying from 4° in the west to 12° over the greater part of North Bengal This excess was greater in day than in night temperatures—a feature which was noticeable during the greater part of the month The pressure distribution was at that time favourable for westerly winds even in the extreme north but as pressure changed rapidly on the 2nd, easterly wind became stronger in Assam and extended over the northern districts Though temperature fell somewhat, there remained a large excess until a disturbance began in Assam on the 4th and moved slowly westward With the advance of the disturbance thunderstorms with rainfall occurred on the 6th and following days in North Bengal on the 8th in East Bengal and on the 9th in South West Bengal These were the dates on which thunderstorms with rain began, but they continued more or less irregularly until the 12th in Bengal Proper In Orissa and Chota Nagpur the showers were scattered throughout, and in nearly all cases very light They were, however, of daily occurrence in some parts of these divisions up to the end of the third week, when the second spell of high temperature began In Bihar there was practically no rainfall until the 14th, when showers were fairly numerous

During this period of showery weather that is roughly during the second week the area of high temperature moved westward, and in the eastern and central districts mean temperature was in slight defect For a few days ordinary weather prevailed, with pressure and temperature both nearly normal Then a wave of rising pressure advanced from the west, and with this rise of pressure the second period of excessive heat began In advance of the change, however a slight disturbance was caused by a shallow depression over Bengal on the 18th Heavy cloud gathered on the 18th and temperature fell several degrees but on the 19th the light disturbance had ceased, and with a rapid rise of pressure from the west westerly winds became general over Bengal

The excessive heat continued from the 20th to the 24th in Bengal

During these days pressure had been falling, and the distribution was again normal on the 23rd On the 23rd and 24th thunderstorms began in Assam and North Bengal On the 25th they became general over the eastern districts, and scattered showers fell in the west of the Province The rainfall was fairly general and in places heavy up to the 28th The heavy showers which fell over a considerable part of the Province during this period of disturbance was as has already been stated, probably in part due to the indraught of moist air from the west, thrown into the upper atmosphere by the cyclonic storm in the Arabian sea Cloudy showery weather was general in Central India during those days and the area of low temperature extending from the west coast of India as far as the border of Bengal shows the probable connection of the rainfall in Bengal with the distant disturbance in the west

From the 25th to the 27th temperature was low, though not by very large amounts and on the 28th there was a further large fall in the western districts, the greatest mean defect being 13° at Hazaribagh Rainfall was then ceasing, and during the remaining days the showers were almost entirely confined to the extreme east Temperature was rising and by the 31st there was a moderate excess, except in North Bengal

Pressure was almost continuously high, but considerable oscillations occurred at the times of unsettled weather As defect was never large, the means for the month are above the normal at all stations, by amounts varying from 07 inch at Cuttack to 03 inch in North Bengal

Temperature was very high at times, more specially during the day In the early part of the month when the highest day readings were recorded night temperatures were above the normal by only small amounts Towards the end of the month when the second heat spell occurred night temperatures were higher

For the month as a whole average maximum temperature differed from the normal by amounts varying from a slight defect in the west of Chota Nagpur to excess of more than 5 over the north and centre of Bengal Proper The largest excess amounts were 6° at Rampur Boalia and Sirajganj and 7° at Berhampore

Minimum temperature as usual fell after the occurrence of thunderstorms but the fall was not so large as in ordinary years, except during the few days of rainy weather towards the end of the month Average excess in minimum temperature for the month was small in the south western districts, and was rarely more than 2° in Bengal Proper and Bihar

The following table gives the highest recorded temperatures and the stations and dates of their occurrence in the various divisions —

Rainfall was much lighter than usual over the whole Province except Chota Nagpur, and in Assam. Although local disturbances were numerous the rainfall accompanying them was unusually light except between the 25th and 28th, when, probably owing to the cyclonic disturbance in the west of India rainfall was much heavier in Bengal than at any other time during the month The total fall in North Bengal was 6 6 and in East Bengal 5 8 the normal in both divisions being about 10 inches In South West Bengal defect was 2 in Orissa 1 8 and in Behar 1 4 inches In Chota Nagpur the fall of 2 24 inches was practically normal

In Assam, Cheera Punjee received less than half the normal Silchar 7 3 inches, 10 inches less than the normal, and falls at the other stations were in defect by amounts ranging from 1 inch at Gauhati to 6 inches at Dibrugarh

The following table gives full data for comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of May for all districts of the Province The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-reporting stations in each district The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the observations of past years The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in each district The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage The fourth column gives the same information as the third in a slightly different form, stating as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal —

NOTIFICATION

Simla, the 12th June 1903

No 2704 I A —The following despatch to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India with enclosures relating to the celebrations held in Delhi in December 1902 and January 1903 in honour of the Coronation of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, is published for general information —

No 58 (Internal) dated Simla the 7th May 1903

From —The Government of India

To—The RIGHT HON BLE LORD GEORGE F HAMILTON G C S I, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India

WE have the honour to furnish Your Lordship, for the information of His Majesty's Government with an account of the celebrations held at Delhi in December and January last in honour of the Coronation of His Majesty the King Emperor of India Copies of the official programmes are enclosed, and, as Your Lordship is aware a commission to write an official history of the proceedings has been entrusted to Mr Stephen Wheeler As a narrative, therefore, this despatch is intentionally brief and it relates more particularly to the political aspects of this great event

2 It was in November 1901 that the intention to hold an Imperial Durbar with the above named object was first publicly announced The occasion was the notification of the issue of invitations by His Majesty the King Emperor to a limited number of Indian Chiefs to attend his Coronation in England and it was at the same time explained that in order to afford the remaining Chiefs, who could not be present in London, an opportunity of testifying their loyalty to his Throne and Person, His Majesty had instructed the Viceroy to hold a celebration in India at a date subsequent to the English ceremony In February 1902 a Proclamation was published in the Gazette of India naming Delhi as the place and the 1st January 1903 as the date of the proposed gathering and this was followed by invitations to attend addressed by His Excellency the Viceroy to the Heads of Local Governments and Administrations and to the Ruling Chiefs of India In September 1902 the news was made public that His Majesty had graciously deputed His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught to represent the Royal Family upon this momentous occasion and the utmost satisfaction was everywhere expressed at this evidence of the warm personal interest taken by His Majesty in the approaching ceremony and at the high compliment to India which the choice implied

3 Throughout the summer, and still more after the successful celebration of His Majesty's Coronation in London on 9th August 1902, our preparations for the forthcoming event in India continued apace and before the end of the year they had reached so advanced a stage that the most important functions had been several times rehearsed on the spot, and there remained only the arrival of the principal actors on the scene and the occurrence of favourable weather, to ensure the triumphant realisation of our plans

4 By the 27th December the principal Ruling Chiefs of India, many representatives of Foreign Powers, the leading officials of our Government, and a strong force from the Indian Army had assembled at Delhi and on the 29th of the month, the ceremonies were inaugurated by the State entry of His Excellency the Viceroy and Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught His Excellency arrived shortly in advance of Their Royal Highnesses He was met at the station by the Ruling Chiefs, foreign representatives and leading officials, and attended by them he received Their Royal Highnesses, who had journeyed direct from Bombay The route of the Entry lay through the principal streets of the city Preceded by their escorts the Imperial Cadet Corps, the Viceroy's Body Guard, and their respective staffs His Excellency and Their Royal Highnesses headed the Procession on magnificently appointed State elephants Then followed 51 Ruling Chiefs similarly mounted and riding two abreast His Royal Highness the Grand Duke of Hesse whose presence at Delhi as the guest of the Viceroy, was heartily welcomed as an additional evidence of the interest of the Royal family, the Governors Lieutenant Governors and Chief Commissioners of every province of the Indian Empire and the Commander in Chief each with his escort the Members of the Viceroy's Council the Lieutenant-General Commanding Bengal and Chiefs from Baluchistan and the North West Frontier, while the Elephant retinues of the Chiefs brought up the rear In this order the procession slowly passed under a cloudless sky through the avenues of the city The Ruling Chiefs who did not join in the Procession were accommodated in a suitable stand in front of the Town Hall The galleries of the Jumma Musjid had been placed by the courtesy of the Managing Committee at the disposal of the Viceroy for the accommodation of English and European guests The streets were lined throughout their entire length by troops, and behind the troops there was an immense concourse of spectators It would be safe to say that no such crowd of persons has ever before been assembled at Delhi Traffic had been suspended from an early hour, and for four miles the streets, the mosques, the temples, specially erected stands and every roof and balcony commanding a view were thronged Portraits of Their Majesties and loyal mottoes were freely displayed in the native quarters The brilliance of the spectacle was only equalled by the order and enthusiasm that prevailed The welcome accorded to Their Royal Highnesses was particularly marked the affection with which their former stay in this country is remembered enhancing the cordiality of the greeting which all classes were eager to pay to such illustrious representatives of the Royal House After nearly two hours the Procession which had passed out of the city, reached its destination in the various Camps, and dispersed

5 Continuing with the chronological order of events on the 30th December the Viceroy opened an Exhibition of Indian Art in the Kudsia Gardens The exhibits were contained in a handsome building specially erected in the Mogul style, and the collection and arrangement had been carried out with great ability by Sir George Watt The results exceeded our most sanguine anticipations Unique specimens of ancient art mostly chosen from the treasures of Native States and now shown to the public for the first time were exhibited side by side with a collection of the best artwares of the present day, the object being, as explained in the speech of His Excellency the Viceroy, a copy of which we enclose, on the one hand to demonstrate the capabilities of indigenous art and, on the other hand, to raise the existing standard by a comparison with the best models of the past Our sincere thanks are due to the many Chiefs and Native gentlemen who contributed to the loan collections and who stimulated competition by the offer of rewards to the competing artizans Many of the latter, together with selected Native officials from all parts of the country were assisted to visit the Exhibition and to the public at large, we are glad to say, it afforded considerable attraction Forty eight thousand persons paid for admission and purchases to the value of Rs 3,62,332 were made As permanent results, we are hopeful that a much needed impetus may have been given to many deserving branches of Indian art, and that craftsmen and patrons alike will be encouraged to revive the ancient traditions and to adapt them to the requirements of modern life

6 Omitting the Durbar, to which we shall refer later the next important event was the Grand Chapter of the two Indian Orders of the Star of India and the Indian Empire held on the night of the 3rd January in the Diwan i Am, or Hall of Public Audience, in the Palace Fort of the Emperor Shah Jehan This magnificent structure had, without the smallest injury to or alteration of its own features, been enlarged by temporary additions to three times its original size, and had been connected for the occasion by a covered passage with the white marble Diwan i Khas, or Hall of Private Audience So skilfully were these additions made under the supervision of Colonel J W Thurburn, R.E., Secretary to the Punjab Government in the Public Works Department, and Rai Bahadur Ganga Ram, Superintendent of Works, that a stranger could hardly distinguish the new building from the old—even in the blaze of light in which the ceremony was held

The Chapter was attended by 11 Knights Grand Commanders of the Star of India, 15 Knights Grand Commanders of the Indian Empire, 14 Knights Commanders of the Star of India, and 16 of the Indian Empire, 41 Companions of the former and 110 of the latter Order It was by far the largest Chapter that has ever been held in India Nearly 2,000 spectators were present. No less than 74 admissions or promotions in the Orders were made Among those so honoured were the Chiefs of Charkhari, Cochin Miraj (Senior Branch), Nabha, Shahpura, Sirmur, Sirohi Tehri, and Travancore, the Khan of Dir, the Mirs of Hunza and Nagar, and the Mehtar of Chitral

On the night of the 6th January, the Palace was again the scene of a State Ball, which from the number of distinguished persons present and the unique surroundings, has had no equal in this country Most of the Ruling Chiefs attended, and in all more than 4,000 persons were present

7 The 4th January being Sunday, Divine Service was celebrated at a specially arranged State ceremony, held in the open air, by the Metropolitan, assisted by the Bishop of Lahore It was attended by His Excellency the Viceroy, Their Royal Highnesses, and all the officials and European troops present in Delhi

8 On the 8th January a Grand Review of the whole body of troops assembled was held on a level plain in the vicinity of the Camps There were present about 34,000 troops of all ranks under His Excellency the Commander in Chief Stands were erected for the accommodation of spectators, and many thousands also attended in carriages, on horseback and on foot His Excellency the Viceroy rode on to the ground at 11 A M with Their Royal Highnesses the Duke of Connaught and the Grand Duke of Hesse and took the salute as the troops marched past The Review was in all respects a most brilliant success, and produced a marked effect on the many warlike classes present The Imperial Service Troops were all represented, the Contingents from Alwar Bhopal Bikaner, Gwalior Jhind, Nabha Patiala, and Sirmur being led past the saluting point by their Chiefs or other members of the ruling family The enthusiasm created by the appearance of Chiefs of all ages, from the youthful prince who now occupies the Patiala gadi to the venerable figure of the veteran Sikh Chief of Nabha will long be remembered by both Chiefs and people and must tend to strengthen the military ties that unite the different constituents of the Indian Empire

At Lord Lytton's Imperial Assemblage in 1877, an improvised Review of the Retainers of Native Chiefs preceded the Military Review On the present occasion a separate morning was set apart for the Retainers Review, and this ceremony, which took place on the 7th January, was one of the most picturesque and interesting of the celebrations of the fortnight Some 40 States sent contingents, and great trouble had been taken to give a faithful representation of the old fashioned arms and equipment that are now passing out of use

9 Owing to the enormous extent of ground covered by the various Camps, and to the press of daily and even hourly engagements it was impossible for His Excellency the Viceroy to receive and return the visits of the unprecedented number of Chiefs and nobles who were present at Delhi In order, however to provide an opportunity of meeting all these distinguished personages, and to enable them to meet each other, two parties were given by His Excellency for the Indian guests—one at the Kudsia Gardens on the afternoon of the 2nd January for official guests other than Chiefs and one for Ruling Chiefs on the evening of the 9th January at the Viceroy's Camp

On the latter occasion an Investiture was held at which His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, as Great Master of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath invested the Nizam of Hyderabad with the Grand Cross of that Order an honour which was intensely appreciated by His Highness, and the Maharaja of Kolhapur with the Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian Order His Royal Highness also presented gold medals to various Chiefs who had attended His Majesty's Coronation in England and by His Majesty's Command His Excellency the Viceroy conferred the honour of Knighthood on several gentlemen

10 Apart from official functions the public rejoicings assumed various forms Thus on the 2nd January, there was an illumination of the city and a display of fireworks A military assault-at-arms was held on the 3rd and the 5th January and on most days there were numerously attended athletic contests, such as polo, football, and hockey for which prizes were presented by the Viceroy For the first time in Indian History might be seen on the same ground the game of polo as still played in the remote mountain States of Hunza and Nagar on one side of India and Manipur on the other and as borrowed from them and subsequently developed by the English both in India and in England Concerts also were given by the military massed bands numbering 2 000 performers, under the direction of Captain G B Sanford

11 From careful enquiries made at the time, we estimate that in addition to the normal population of the city, which was returned at the recent Census as 208,000, not less than 173,000 persons were attracted to Delhi by the Durbar These figures afford a striking contrast to the 68 000 who were reckoned as having been drawn to Delhi by the Imperial Assemblage of 1877 Lists of the individuals invited by Government or attending officially will be found among the enclosures to this despatch but the following additional details will be of interest Of the principal Ruling Chiefs 103 were invited and 100 attended Minor Chiefs were, as a rule, not invited, and many, to whom for financial reasons the visit to Delhi might have proved burdensome, were excused In view of the recent heavy calls that had been made upon some of the Chiefs, mainly in consequence of famine, we were careful to explain that there was no occasion for ostentatious display, and in a few cases we helped to relieve a temporary encumbrance by advancing the necessary funds

Invitations to attend or to send representatives were also addressed to His Majesty the Shah of Persia and His Majesty the King of Siam, and to Their Highnesses the Amir of Afghanistan the Sultan of Maskat, and the Maharaja-Dhiraj of Nepal These States were eventually represented by General Chowphya Surawongse, the Chief personal Aide-de Camp of the King of Siam Colonel Muhammad Ismail Khan, the Amir of Afghanistan s Envoy with the Viceroy the son and heir of the Sultan of Maskat, and the Prime Minister of Nepal An invitation to depute a representative was also addressed through His Britannic Majesty s Minister at Tokio to the allied Government of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan The result was a Mission headed by General Baron Yasukata Oku who, we have reason to believe appreciated the military manœuvres which preceded the Durbar as highly as did the Indian Army his presence among them

We also felt that the occasion was one in which it was eminently desirable that our fellow subjects in the colonies of Australia and South Africa with whom we have so many connections, and who are certain in the future to be brought into much closer contact with India should be afforded an opportunity of participating The invitations which the Viceroy addressed to their Governments were responded to by the deputation of Sir Richard Baker President of the Federal Senate from the former, and Sir Richard Solomon, Attorney General of the Transvaal, from the latter

Their Excellencies Colonel Sir Eduardo Galhardo KCIV, Governor General of Portuguese India, and Mons Victor Laureano Governor of the French Settlements in India, and the leading members of the Foreign Consular Body in India, also honoured us by assisting at the ceremonies as our guests

Further with a view to giving to the world a large a full, immediate, and unbiassed account of the celebrations we invited the leading journals of the United Kingdom and India to depute their representatives to attend the Durbar as our guests and we extended similar hospitality and facilities to any other influential journals which applied to us We have every reason to be grateful to those who profited by our invitation, for the admirable accounts of our proceedings which they circulated by telegraph and post to all parts of the world

12 In inviting the attendance of the Heads of Local Governments and Administrations we intimated that they should be accompanied by a limited number of the members of their administration, leading officials, native noblemen and gentlemen and heads of representative bodies

All the Europeans thus invited were treated as the personal guests of the head of the province or administration to which they belonged and were accommodated in the head quarters or Central Camp of the province The Ruling Chiefs with the Political Officers attached to them were encamped in separate camps grouped territorially, and the native noblemen officials and others were for the most part in separate Provincial Camps, while some secured accommodation in the city and civil station of Delhi

The Central Camps including those of His Excellency the Viceroy the various Local Governments and Administrations the Commander in Chief and the Provincial Commands, and the Foreign and Press Camp, occupied a site historic in the annals of 1857, below the famous Ridge The population of these camps alone, including followers, numbered over 13,000, and considerations of space and sanitation demanded the location elsewhere of the Provincial Camps with their 35,000 inhabitants, of the Military Camps with their strength of 56,000, and of the miscellaneous camps, which sheltered another 12,000 The most convenient sites were selected but, even so, they extend d over an area of 40 square miles while the remaining 57 000 of additional population found quarters in the city and civil station A map showing the location of the different camps with the railways and roads, is one of the enclosures with this despatch

13 It will be readily understood that an encampment of this size entailed elaborate preparations Many thousands of tents had to be collected Camp sites had to be levelled and 40 miles of new roads were constructed A 2 6" gauge light railway, 7 miles in length, was built to connect the city with the Central Camp and the Durbar Amphitheatre, and carried 102,098 passengers from first to last, exclusive of 850 holders of season tickets extensions were also made from existing main lines to facilitate the delivery of the heavy material for the Camp The existing water supply was supplemented by 72 reservoirs, 45 wells and 38 miles of pipes and 2 475 persons were employed as a special sanitary staff Special telegraph, telephone, and postal services were organised, and the Central Camp, the Fort and the principal streets of the city were lighted by electricity, plant which had already been ordered by our Military Department, for the lighting and ventilation of barracks, being utilised for the purpose The food supply was catered for partly by private enterprise, and partly by the Supply and Transport Department For the Durbar itself a temporary Amphitheatre in white and gold was erected, according to a plan prepared by the Viceroy, with the assistance of Sir Swinton Jacob This structure, which turned out to be pre eminently well adapted for its purpose, and which was also utilised for the Retainers' Review and the military assault at-arms, was designed exclusively in the Indo Saracenic, or Mogul style, every detail being copied from buildings at Delhi or Agra It was erected on approximately the same site as Lord Lytton's Amphitheatre in 1877, but it was entirely different in size and shape, and it held three times the number of spectators, since it provided seating and standing accommodation for no fewer than 16 000 persons A plan of the Amphitheatre, showing the seating arrangements, is enclosed

The whole of the arrangements were under the supervision of a Central and an Executive Committee The former was the initiatory and controlling authority and its decisions were carried out by the Executive Committee or by the Government Department concerned Thus the Home Department undertook the control of the Police arrangements the Military Works Department that of the electric installation, and the Military Department that of the markets managed by the Supply and Transport Corps, while the control of ceremonies remained with the Foreign Department

To make provision for the peace and the maintenance of good order at the Coronation Durbar, and to provide a simple and speedy procedure for dealing with the various petty offences that were likely to occur in the camps a short Act, called the Delhi Durbar Police Act, 1902, was passed by the Punjab Legislative Council and of this we enclose a copy

In other ways we received valuable assistance from the Punjab Government which deputed its Sanitary Commissioner to take charge of the Sanitation and Conservancy of the Camps, its Inspector General of Police to control the Police arrangements and its Chief Engineer to supervise the buildings, water supply, and roads The further special agency included a Camp Officer in executive charge of each Camp a Special Magistrate for the Central Camp and one for each group of Provincial Camps an Executive Sanitary Officer a Health Officer and a Plague Officer a Railway Officer for the construction and management of the light railway and a staff of Attaches to attend to the details of the various ceremonies and to the reception of the Chiefs

14 How successful were the exertions of all these different agents and how fortune waited upon their enterprise may be illustrated by the fact that so far as we are aware among the vast crowds temporarily assembled at Delhi with few of the advantages offered by great European cities, not a single serious accident occurred The proceedings were also favoured with the most agreeable weather rain only falling upon a single night, and then only in sufficient quantity to lay the dust and to add greatly to the comfort as well as to the spectacular effect of the great Military Review Though the temperature was cold at night in the concluding weeks of December it continued to get warmer every day, and throughout the fortnight of official celebrations may be said to have been perfect

15 From this description of the preliminaries we now pass to an account of the Durbar itself Of the picturesque side of this memorable gathering we need say but little The long lines of troops the wide plain filled with a multitude of all races of the Empire the great assembly in the Amphitheatre where the Chiefs, Governors, Colonial and Foreign representatives, and leading officials occupied seats on either side of the Viceroy's Dais the emotion stirred by the entry of the small band of Mutiny heroes these have all been described in the columns of the Press Similarly full justice has been rendered to the combined magnificence and variety of a display which brought together in their national dresses or garbs of State figures so widely separated by race and residence as the Arab Sheikhs of the Aden Protectorate the Baluch and Pathan Chieftains of the Indian border the heirs or representatives of the States of Nepal Sikkim, and Maskat and the picturesquely clad Shan Chieftains from the Salween and the Mekong To Muhammadans the day was the anniversary of the Id ul Fitr and to allow of their devotions the Durbar was fixed for noon Punctually to the hour His Excellency the Viceroy drove into the arena escorted by his Body Guard and the Imperial Cadet Corps and ascended the Dais, whither he had been preceded in a separate procession by Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught The Herald then advanced on horseback accompanied by his trumpeters and by command of the Viceroy read aloud the Proclamation, announcing the Coronation of His Majesty the King Emperor of India On the conclusion of the Proclamation the Royal Standard was unfurled to the sound of the National Anthem and an Imperial Salute of 101 guns His Excellency then addressed the Assemblage gathered, as he said that day to symbolise and give expression to the united loyalty of the Empire to His Majesty's mighty and benevolent rule The announcement of the gracious message which His Majesty had desired to be conveyed to his Indian people was received with enthusiastic cheering and repeated applause greeted the Viceroy's references to the Princes and people of India to the great future lying before the country, and to the favours which the Government desired to associate with the occasion Translations of His Excellency's speech in Urdu had been distributed to the Ruling Chiefs and Native gentlemen on their arrival at the Amphitheatre, so that they might more readily follow the proceedings

At the conclusion of the address, of which copies in English and Urdu are included in the enclosures to this despatch, three cheers for His Majesty were given by the audience and repeated with overpowering effect by the troops and spectators outside The Ruling Chiefs were then presented to His Excellency the Viceroy and His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught This proceeding, which was in reality a reversion to the time honoured practice of Indian Accession Durbars had been introduced by the Viceroy and specially explained by him to the Chiefs, in order to enable them to play a personal part in the proceedings and to testify individually their sentiments of loyalty and devotion to the Throne by tendering to the Representative and to the Brother of His Majesty with their own lips the congratulations and heartfelt vows of attachment evoked by the moving character of the scene in which they thus became chief actors instead of mere spectators The suggestion was cordially welcomed by the Chiefs as soon as they realised its import The whole of them came forward, without exception attended in some cases by a son or a Minister and in accents of unmistakeable pleasure and sincerity offered their dutiful and loyal congratulations to His Majesty on his accession to the Throne, and expressed their satisfaction at being present at the great and notable solemnity held to proclaim the fact to the Princes and people of India This ceremony which was perhaps the most impressive feature of the Durbar, brought the latter to a close

16 On the evening of the same day a State Dinner was given by His Excellency the Viceroy in his Camp to the principal official guests and the health of His Majesty the King Emperor and of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught were proposed by His Excellency, and enthusiastically received We enclose copies of the speeches made by the Viceroy on this occasion and of the Duke of Connaught's reply

17 His Excellency the Viceroy and Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught left Delhi on Saturday, the 10th January, the same ceremonies being observed at their departure as on their arrival

18 There thus came to an end the most imposing ceremony, or rather series of ceremonies that has ever been held in India in British or perhaps in any times The conception of the Durbar, the control of the arrangements and supervision of the thousand and one details which were essential to success were the work of the Viceroy, who made himself responsible for the entire undertaking, and visited Delhi no fewer than four times in the nine months proceeding the Durbar As regards the policy which underlay the conception and inspired the execution of a scheme with which we regard it as a privilege to have been associated, we cannot better describe it than in His Excellency's own words during the recent Budget Debate on the 25th March 1903—

"But to me, and I hope to the majority of us, the Durbar meant not a panorama or a procession It was a landmark in the history of the people, and a chapter in the ritual of the State What was it intended for? It was meant to remind all the Princes and peoples of the Asiatic Empire of the British Crown that they had passed under the dominion of a new and single sovereign to enable them to solemnise that great and momentous event, and to receive the Royal assurance and greeting And what was its effect? They learned that under that benign influence they were one, that they were not scattered atoms in a heterogeneous and cumbersome mass, but co ordinate units in a harmonious and majestic whole The scales of isolation and prejudice and distrust fell from their eyes, and from the Arab Sheikhs of Aden on the west to the Shan Chiefs of the Mekong on the borders of China, they felt the thrill of a common loyalty and the inspiration of a single aim Was there nothing in this? Is it nothing that the Sovereign at his Coronation should exchange pledges with his assembled lieges of protection and respect on the one side, of spontaneous allegiance on the other? Is it nothing that the citizens of the Empire should learn what that Empire means? Even if we take the rest of India which could not be present at Delhi, but held its own rejoicings in its own place, is it nothing to lift an entire people for a little space out of the rut of their narrow and parochial lives, and to let them catch a glimpse of a higher ideal, an appreciation of the hidden laws that regulate the march of nations and the destinies of men? I believe that the Durbar, more than any event in modern history, showed to the Indian people the path which, under the guidance of Providence, they are treading taught the Indian Empire its unity, and impressed the world with its moral as well as material force It will not be forgotten The sound of the trumpets has already died away The Captains and the Kings have departed But the effect produced by this overwhelming display of unity and patriotism is still alive, and will not perish Everywhere it is known that upon the throne of the East is seated a power that has made of the sentiments, the aspirations, and the interests of 300 millions of Asiatics a living thing and the units in that great aggregation have learned that in their incorporation lies their strength As a disinterested spectator of the Durbar remarked, 'Not until to day did I realise that the destinies of the East still lie, as they always have done, in the hollow of India's hand I think too that the Durbar taught the lesson not only of power but of duty There was not an officer of Government there present, there was not a Ruling Prince, nor a thoughtful spectator, who must not at one moment or other have felt that participation in so great a conception carried with it responsibility as well as pride, and that he owed something in return for whatever of dignity or security or opportunity the Empire had given to him 19 The feelings of loyalty and devotion to the Throne and of pride in the might of an Empire of which they realised that they were integral parts, were clearly testified by the remarks made by the Chiefs as they tendered to the Viceroy and His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught their felicitations and assurances of homage to the Crown Sometimes a Chief had rehearsed a short speech, but the power of the moment was upon him and his formal utterance melted into a simple but heartfelt and obviously sincere expression of the pride and pleasure that he felt in assuming as a partner in the toils and joys of Empire and in tendering his congratulations to the Sovereign Could any studied oration have been more eloquent than the few words of the aged Raja of Nabha?

Now shall he I can die in peace, as I have discharged the three duties of a true Sikh —I have lived according to the precepts of the Gurus I have aided the State with my sword and now I have paid my personal homage to my Sovereign

Her Highness the Begam of Bhopal, who took her place veiled among the other Chiefs presented a written address in which, after referring to the auspicious circumstance in the eyes of Muhammadans that the Durbar should coincide with their Id

she as the well wisher and sincere admirer of the British Paramount Power and Government on this historic occasion not only of the fidelity, devotion and affection of myself my sons my people and of the women of State but also of the loyalty of the whole Muhammadan population of India for faithfulness and bodily service to the Ruler are both strictly ordained by the Muhammadan religion"

We could multiply such quotations from every speech made that day but as these will be collected in the Official History we will only now refer to an address subsequently delivered by His Highness the Nizam on his return from Delhi to Hyderabad in which he said — It was a source of great pleasure to me that I was enabled to take my part in the Coronation Durbar of His Majesty the Emperor of India (may his generosity last for ever) and after the custom of my ancestors to show in a simple straightforward and soldierly manner, by word and deed, my historical friendship and loyalty * * * I also count this journey particularly fortunate in that it enabled me to meet at Delhi my contemporary Chiefs and high officers

20 We trust we have brought home to Your Lordship the extent to which the ceremony of the Durbar was regarded by the Ruling Chiefs and by those who took part in it as a solemn and almost religious observance and also as a great ceremonial of Imperial and awe inspiring significance The occasion was wholly dissevered from the ideas or associations of an ordinary Durbar It was felt that this was the Sovereign's Durbar held by his orders for the celebration of the most auspicious event in his reign Accordingly it was the message of the Sovereign that excited the loudest applause at the Durbar Every mention of his name evoked a similar demonstration, while the reception accorded to his Royal Brother was pregnant with the same lesson No one who was present can have failed to carry away the conviction that the most potent force in the union of Great Britain with India is the veneration and affection that are entertained for the Throne

If such was the immediate effect of the ceremony on those Princes and Chiefs of India whose lives had been passed under the immediate hegemony of the British Government, its influence upon those who have more recently come under our sway, or who are not so intimately connected with our rule was even more marked The Afghan Envoy at the Durbar enquired if the representatives of Foreign Powers were present, for said he, this assembly, resembling the final gathering at the Day of Judgment, could only bring home to them the futility of opposing a Power which could thus assemble without force or compulsion but simply by the ties of loyalty and affection an entire universe of peoples and creeds Much the same ideas were expressed by the Prime Minister of Nepal, while the representatives of the distant Gilgit tribes laughed when they thought of the day when they had attempted to pit their puny strength against even a feudatory of such a Power

The effect of the display of military power at the Review was no less remarkable, and undoubtedly impressed the representatives of Foreign Powers who were present We attach special importance to the impression caused by the eagerness of the Chiefs to appear in public at the head of their troops as feudatories of the Empire The interest taken by the Chiefs as a body in the contingents of the Imperial Service Troops was noticeable and cannot fail greatly to promote this most useful and patriotic movement Their appearance on parade was highly creditable so much so indeed, that the Baluch Chiefs remarked that they only differed, if at all, from the regular army in the greater perfection of their equipment and drill

We believe that these impressions were no mere transient phases of sensuous emotion but that the striking incidents, of which they were the privileged spectators and the general sense of well ordered power and popular contentment of good governance on the one hand and identity of interest on the other, which marked the whole proceedings, will continue to produce their effect on all who were the present long after the Delhi Durbar has passed away, save as the treasured memory of a splendid and ennobling scene

21 There is still another sense in which as His Excellency anticipated the Durbar has achieved a most beneficial result and has had a far reaching effect The growing power of the railway of the press, and other means of communication has done much to bring the different parts of India into contact with one another and to obliterate their divergences, but on no previous occasion have so many of the Chiefs and nobles and representative persons of India of all races and religions had an opportunity of meeting together, [redacted] for an hour or a day but for a period of weeks Much was done by the friendly exchange of ideas at social gatherings and official functions to break down the barriers of ignorance or distrust which have tended to keep different classes and individuals apart, and have proved a serious obstacle to the cohesion of the body politic That the Chiefs themselves thoroughly appreciated the opportunities afforded is clearly shown by the remarks of His Highness the Nizam already quoted and by messages of a similar character which have reached the Viceroy from many other quarters Nor is it the Chiefs alone who benefited in this way Advantage was taken of the occasion by our civil and military officers of different Provinces who were assembled for the Durbar, and who are precluded by their duties at ordinary times from meeting, to discuss together many matters of the highest administrative importance, and to compare ideas on points of policy or practice in a way which within the narrow limits of their own Provinces, would have been impossible We are confident that there was not an officer present, British or Indian, who did not feel a sense of pride at serving the Government of an Empire so vast and beneficent, or who did not carry away with him the stimulus of an added zeal to give of his best to the service of his Sovereign and country

22 But the Durbar did not produce its effect only on those who were able to attend We have reason to believe that the great mass of the people of India whether in British territory or in the States under His Majesty's protection, were profoundly impressed by the report of the ceremonies that took place, and that their imaginations were not untouched by the great idea of which these were but the outward form Local celebrations were held everywhere throughout the country on the same day and even the humblest participant can hardly have failed to entertain some conception of a national unity achieved under the firm but kindly sway of the British sceptre, and carrying with it the privileges of common citizenship in a world wide Empire In other ways, too the event was brought home to the minds of the populace By an act of grace 16 188 prisoners were released from British Indian Jails, and similar clemency was shown in the majority of the Native States Nor must we omit to mention in this connection the impetus which was given to internal trade more especially in the Native States by the requirements of an assembly on so vast a scale as that recently held, and for those of the very numerous local celebrations

23 Upon the effect of the Durbar beyond the limits of India, we are not in a position to pronounce with authority but from the references to it contained in the newspapers of all countries we are entitled to believe that it was very great and that the outside world has thereby been enabled to form a more correct idea of the scale and polity of our Indian Empire to judge of the difficulties that have been met and surmounted in its creation, and to realise the power and prestige which must attach to the State that for the first time in history has not only succeeded in moulding into a single whole the scattered and often warring atoms, which hitherto formed the congeries of countries and peoples included within the Indian continent but has also by the justice and high purpose of its administration infused the entire mass with a spirit of devotion to a common Sovereign

24 Of the honours favours, and concessions by which the occasion was marked a complete list will be found in the Gazette Extraordinary of the 1st January We have already alluded to the promotions in, and appointments to, the Orders of the Bath, the Star of India and the Indian Empire and to the honours of Knighthood conferred by His Majesty His Majesty was graciously pleased also to award 15 Kaiser i Hind Medals of the 1st class and 18 of the 2nd class Further honours, reserved for Chiefs only, consisted of the addition of 2 guns to the permanent salute of the Nawab of Janjira, the grant of permanent salutes of 9 guns to the Sawbwas of Keng Tung, Mong Nai and Hsi Law, who are the three principal Shan Chiefs and the grant of personal salutes of 9 guns each to the Chiefs of Bhor and Danta and to Nawab Sir Amir ud din Ahmed Khan Bahadur, KCIE, of Loharu

The British officers of the Indian Army were intensely gratified by the grant to them of that designation, while the Native officers equally appreciated the announcement that six of their number would be annually appointed as orderly officers in attendance upon His Majesty Other favours to the Army included the addition of 20 appointments to the first class and 60 to the second class of the Order of British India, the grant of honorary rank on retirement, to native officers in possession of that decoration the grant of extra meritorious service medals and extra long service and good conduct medals, with gratuities in each case money grants to all British and Native Corps, the grant of special privileges to the Native Mountain Artillery and the release or mitigation of punishment of various classes of military offenders His Highness the Raja of Nabha received the honorary rank of Colonel of the 14th (Ferozepore) Sikh Infantry and His Highness the Maharao of Kota the honorary rank of Major in the Deoli Irregular Force, whose head quarters adjoin his State

Various civil titles were conferred by His Excellency the Viceroy on distinguished Native gentlemen and in six very special cases grants of land or inams were bestowed We have already alluded to the release of prisoners in British India In the Viceroy's speech in addition to certain measures of financial relief to those Native States which had suffered from famine, was foreshadowed the very considerable reduction of taxation that was definitely announced in the Budget three months later, and that will always be associated by the people with the year of His Majesty's Coronation

25 We should be guilty of an inexcusable omission if we did not acknowledge the devotion and ability with which the many duties connected with the Durbar were discharged From first to last the preparations proceeded rapidly and harmoniously, every programme for the Durbar fortnight was carried out without a hitch, and the difficult task of winding up the Camp was expeditiously and satisfactorily performed, the final meeting of the Committees being held on the 10th April

Where all did so well, it is difficult to particularise, but the following names appear to call for particular notice Our cordial thanks are due to the Central and Executive Committees Of the former we must specially mention Sir Hugh Barnes, the President, and Major General G Henry and of the latter, Captain A D Bannerman the Secretary, and Major H Hudson Mr Gordon Walker and Major M W Douglas combined their membership of these Committees with other arduous duties as Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner of Delhi, similarly Colonel H L Lyons Montgomery of the Executive Committee was also the Officer of the Supply and Transport Corps, who was responsible for the very complete Commissariat arrangements

To Lieutenant Colonel C J Bamber, as Sanitary Commissioner, and Lieutenant Colonel H B Thornhill as Executive Sanitary Officer, is chiefly due under Providence, the immunity of the Camp from any serious outbreak of disease, though plague was rife over the greater part of the Continent, and but for the precautions taken, there would certainly have been danger of cholera From the time the Camp was started in July 1902 there were altogether ten cases of plague, of which nine were imported, but the arrangements effectually prevented the disease from taking hold

Rai Bahadur Ganga Ram was in executive charge of the numerous public works, including the building of the Amphitheatre the structural additions in the Fort, the construction of roads, and the provision of the water supply The electric installation for the Fort was undertaken by Messrs Osler & Co, and that for the Central Camp by Messrs Kilburn & Co The latter included 100 arc lights, and more than 8 000 incandescent lamps disposed among the various tents We can pay no higher compliment to the efficiency of the work done by the firm under the supervision of Major A M Stuart and Captain C O Halliday, R E, than to say that during the month for which the light was employed there was not a single failure

The postal arrangements included 16 special offices and numerous pillar boxes and were satisfactorily carried out by Rai Bahadur Daulat Ram C I E under the supervision of the Postmaster General of the Punjab The Telegraph Department under Mr O Lees opened 11 telegraph offices and a telephone exchange with 25 branches to the more important camps it gave general satisfaction, the facilities afforded to the Press being we understand, particularly appreciated

The Punjab Police under the orders of Mr C Brown, the Inspector General, added to their well earned reputation by the excellence of their arrangements for the regulation of traffic and the prevention of disorder and crime Their powers of suppression were never called into action, as disorder and crime were non existent

The light railway constructed and managed by Captain H A L Hepper, R F, proved of the greatest service The efforts of the main lines to meet the very heavy traffic incidental to the Durbar also deserve recognition Crowding and some delay were inevitable, and the difficulty of preventing these was enhanced by the awkward and confined situation of the Delhi main station into which most of the traffic had perforce to be brought The experience gained will doubtless lead to improved arrangements on any future occasion of the kind, while the remodelling of the station on the present occasion has been a great advantage to what has now become the centre of the Indian Railway system

We have already alluded to the striking success with which the programmes of the various ceremonies were carried out Sir Hugh Barnes was in immediate charge of all matters of ceremonial Of the staff which ably assisted him he has specially brought to our notice the name of Mr R Hughes Buller of the Indian Civil Service The ticket arrangements were successfully undertaken by Mr W E Jardine also of the Civil Service

Of the amusements provided for visitors the Club and the Polo Tournament, organised by Colonel the Hon ble E Baring, Military Secretary to the Viceroy, were deservedly popular

Interesting notes by the officers in charge of the various branches of the arrangements are included among the enclosures with this despatch

26 As regards the expenditure from public revenues on the Durbar we are not yet in a position to give final figures for certain of the heads included in the actual cost Our most recent calculations were stated in paragraphs 138 to 140 of Part II of the Financial Statement for 1903 1904, where it was shown that the aggregate net charge to Imperial Revenues seemed unlikely to exceed Rs 12 61 000, while the net charge against Provincial Revenues was estimated at Rs 14 83,000 or a total under the two headings of about £180,000 It is possible that the credit side of the account may be increased by further recoveries, and a close scrutiny of the charges debited to the Durbar, which has been taken in hand, may show that some items ought properly to be debited to ordinary heads of expenditure On the other hand, some difficulty has been experienced in distributing the total military expenditure, which has shown a considerable excess over the original forecast between the Durbar and the manœuvres that preceded it and we have not yet completed the enquiries which will enable us to apply a fair and reasonable principle of division

27 In accordance with His Majesty's Command, special gold and silver medals were struck in honour of the occasion, the head of His Majesty being depicted on the one side and a suitable inscription in the Persian character on the other We are now engaged in distributing these medals to the principal official participators in the Durbar, and to selected officers and men of the British and Indian armies who were present The gold medals are for presentation to the Ruling Chiefs and a few high officers of Government The total of the silver medals is about 2,500

28 In a supplementary despatch we propose to send, for Your Lordship's information, copies of reports which we have called for from the various Local Governments and Administrations as to the local celebrations of the Coronation that were held throughout India on the same day as the Delhi Durbar, viz, 1st January 1903.

We have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servants,

SPEECH DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY AT THE OPENING OF THE ART EXHIBITION, 30TH DECEMBER 1902

YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESSES, YOUR HIGHNESSES LADIES AND GENTLEMEN —It is now my pleasant duty to proceed to the first of the functions of the present fortnight, and to declare open the Delhi Art Exhibition A good many of our visitors would scarcely believe that almost everything that we see before us, except the trees, is the creation of the last eight months When I came here in April last to select the site, there was not a trace of this great building, of these terraces, and of all the amenities that we now see around They have all sprung into existence for the sake of this Exhibition, and though the effects of the Exhibition will, I hope, not be so quickly wiped out, the mise en scène is, I am sorry to say, destined to disappear

Perhaps you will expect me to say a few words about the circumstances in which this Exhibition started into being Ever since I have been in India I have made a careful study of the art industries and handicrafts of this country, once so famous and beautiful, and I have lamented, as many others have done, their progressive deterioration and decline When it was settled that we were to hold this great gathering at Delhi, at which there would be assembled representatives of every Province and State in India, Indian Princes and Chiefs and Nobles, high officials, Native gentlemen, and visitors from all parts of the globe, it struck me that here at last was the long sought opportunity of doing something to resuscitate these threatened handicrafts, to show to the world of what India is still capable, and, if possible, to arrest the process of decay I accordingly sent for Dr Watt and I appointed him my right hand for the purpose Far and wide throughout India have he and his Assistant, Mr Percy Brown, proceeded, travelling thousands of miles, everywhere interviewing the artisans, selecting specimens, giving orders, where necessary supplying models, and advancing money to those who needed it Three conditions I laid down to be observed like the laws of Medes and Persians—

First, I stipulated that this must be an Arts Exhibition and nothing else We could easily have given you a wonderful show illustrating the industrial and economic development of India Dr Watt has such an exhibition, and a very good one too, at Calcutta We could have shown you timbers, and minerals, and raw stuffs, and hides, and manufactured articles, to any extent that you pleased It would all have been very satisfying but also very ugly But I did not want that I did not mean this to be an Industrial or Economic Exhibition I mean it to be an Arts Exhibition and that only

My second condition was that I would not have anything European or quasi European in it I declined to admit of those horrible objects, such as lamps on gorgeous pedestals, coloured glass lustres, or fantastics statuettes, that find such a surprising vogue among certain classes in this country, but that are bad anywhere in the world, and worst of all in India which has an art of its own I laid down that I wanted only the work that represented the ideas, the traditions, the instincts, and the beliefs of the people It is possible that a few articles that do not answer to my definition may have crept in, because the process of Europeanisation is going on apace in this country, and the number of teapots, cream jugs, napkin rings, salt cellars, and cigarette cases that the Indian artisan is called upon to turn out is appalling But, generally speaking, my condition has been observed

Then my third condition was that I would only have the best I did not want cheap cottons and wax-cloths, vulgar lacquer, trinkets and tinsel, brass gods and bowls made to order in Birmingham, or perhaps made in Birmingham itself What I desired was an exhibition of all that is rare, characteristic, or beautiful in Indian art, our gold and silver ware, our metal work and enamels, and jewelry, our carving in wood and ivory and stone our best pottery and tiles, our carpets of old Oriental patterns, our muslins and silks and embroideries, and the incomparable Indian brocades All of these you will see inside this building But please remember it is not a bazar but an exhibition Our object has been to encourage and revive good work, not to satisfy the requirements of the thinly lined purse

Such is the general character of the exhibition But we have added to it something much more important Conscious that taste is declining and that many of our modern models are debased and bad, we have endeavoured to set up alongside the products of the present the standards and samples of the past This is the meaning of the Loan Collection, which has a hall to itself, in which you will see many beautiful specimens of old Indian artware lent to us by the generosity of Indian Chiefs and connoisseurs, some of it coming from our own Indian Museums, and some from the unrivalled collection in the South Kensington Museum in London Many of these objects are beautiful in themselves but we hope that the Indian workmen who are here and also the patrons who employ them, will study them not merely as objects of antiquarian or even artistic interest, but as supplying them with fresh or rather resuscitated ideas which may be useful to them in inspiring their own work in the future For this may be laid down as a truism, that Indian art will never be revived by borrowing foreign ideals, but only by fidelity to its own

And now I may be asked, what is the object of this Exhibition and what good do I expect to result from it? I will answer in a very few words In so far as the decline of the Indian arts represents the ascendancy of commercialism, the superiority of steam power to hand power, the triumph of the test of utility over that of taste, then I have not much hope We are witnessing in India only one aspect of a process that is going on throughout the world, that has long ago extinguished the old manual industries of England and that is rapidly extinguishing those of China and Japan Nothing can stop it The power loom will drive out the hand loom, and the factory will get the better of the workshop, just as surely as the steam car is superseding the horsed carriage and as the hand pulled punkah is being replaced by the electric fan All that is inevitable, and in an age which wants things cheap and does not mind their being ugly which cares a good deal for comfort, and not much for beauty, and which is never happy unless it is deserting its own models and traditions, and running about in quest of something foreign and strange, we may be certain that a great many of the old arts and handicrafts are doomed

There is another symptom that to my mind is even more ominous I am one of those, as I have said, who believe that no national art is capable of continued existence unless it satisfies the ideals and expresses the wants, of the nation that has produced it No art can be kept alive by globe trotters or curio hunters alone If it has got to that point, it becomes a mere mechanical reproduction of certain fashionable patterns and when fashion changes and they cease to be popular, it dies If Indian art, therefore, is to continue to flourish, or is to be revived, it can only be if the Indian Chiefs and aristocracy and people of culture and high degree undertake to patronise it So long as they prefer to fill their palaces with flaming Brussels carpets, with Tottenham Court Road furniture, with cheap Italian mosaics, with French oleographs, with Austrian lustres and with German tissues and cheap brocades, I fear there is not much hope I speak in no terms of reproach, because I think that in England we are just as bad in our pursuit of anything that takes our fancy in foreign lands But I do say that if Indian arts and handicrafts are to be kept alive, it can never be by outside patronage alone It can only be because they find a market within the country and express the ideas and culture of its people I should like to see a movement spring up among the Indian Chiefs and nobility for the expurgation, or at any rate the purification of modern tastes, and for a reversion to the old fashioned but exquisite styles and patterns of their own country Some day I have not a doubt that it will come But it may then be too late

If these are the omens, what then is the aim of this Exhibition and what purpose do I think that it will serve? I can answer in a word The Exhibition is intended as an object lesson. It is meant to show what India can still imagine, and create, and do It is meant to show that the artistic sense is not dead among its workmen, but that all they want is a little stimulus and encouragement It is meant to show that for the beautification of an Indian house or the furniture of an Indian home, there is no need to rush to the European shops at Calcutta or Bombay, but that in almost every Indian State and Province, in most Indian towns, and in many Indian villages, there still survives the art, and there still exist the artificers who can satisfy the artistic as well as the utilitarian, tastes of their countrymen, and who are competent to keep alive this precious inheritance that we have received from the past It is with this object that Dr Watt and I have laboured in creating this Exhibition and in now declaring it open, it only remains for me to express the earnest hope that it may in some measure fulfil the strictly patriotic purpose for which it has been designed

SPEECH DELIVERED BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY AT THE DELHI DURBAR ON 1ST JANUARY 1903

YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESSES, PRINCES, AND PEOPLES OF INDIA,—Five months ago in London His Majesty King Edward VII, King of England and Emperor of India, was invested with the crown and sceptre of the English Kings Only a few representatives of the Indian Empire had the good fortune to be present at that ceremony To-day His Majesty has by his royal favour afforded an opportunity to all his Indian people to take part in similar rejoicings, and here, and elsewhere throughout India, are gathered together in honour of the event the Princes and Chiefs and Nobles, who are the pillars of his throne, the European and Indian officials who conduct his administration with an integrity and devotion to duty beyond compare, the Army British and Native, which with such pre eminent bravery defends his frontiers and fights his wars, and the vast body of the loyal inhabitants of India, of all races who amid a thousand varieties of circumstance and feeling and custom, are united in their spontaneous allegiance to the Imperial Crown It was with the special object of thus solemnising his Coronation in India that His Majesty commanded me, as his Viceroy, to convene this great Durbar and it is to signify the supreme value that he attaches to the occasion that he has honoured us by deputing his own brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught to join in this celebration

It is 26 years since, on the anniversary of this day, in this city of Imperial memories and traditions, and on this very spot, Queen Victoria was proclaimed the first Empress of India That act was a vindication of her profound interest in her Indian subjects and of the accomplished unity of her Indian dominions under the paramountcy of the British Crown To day, a quarter of a century later, that Empire is not less but more united The sovereign to whom we are met to render homage is not less dear to his Indian people, for they have seen his features, and heard his voice He has succeeded to a throne not only the most illustrious, but the most stable in the world and ill informed would be the critic who would deny that not the least of the bases of its security—nay, I think, a principal condition of its strength—is the possession of the Indian Empire, and the faithful attachment and service of His Majesty s Indian people Rich in her ancient traditions, India is also rich in the loyalty which has been kindled anew in her by the West Amid the crowd of noble suitors who, through all the centuries, have sought her hand she has given it only to the one who has also gained her trust

Nowhere else in the world would such a spectacle be possible as that which we witness here to day I do not speak of this great and imposing assemblage, unparalleled as I believe it to be I refer to that which this gathering symbolises, and those to whose feelings it gives expression Over 100 rulers of separate States, whose united population amounts to 60 millions of people and whose territories extend over 55 degrees of longitude, have come here to test fy their allegiance to their common sovereign We greatly esteem the sentiments of loyalty that have brought them to Delhi from such great distances, and often at considerable sacrifice and I shall presently be honoured by receiving from their own lips their message of personal congratulation to the King The officers and soldiers present are drawn from a force in India of nearly 230,000 men, whose pride it is that they are the King s Army The leaders of Indian society official and unofficial who are here are the mouthpieces of a community of over 230 million souls In spirit therefore and one may almost say, through their rulers and deputies, in person there is represented in this arena nearly one-fifth of the entire human race All are animated by a single feeling and all bow before a single throne And should it be asked how it is that any one sentiment can draw together these vast and scattered forces and make them one, the answer is that loyalty to the sovereign is synonymous with confidence in the equity and benignity of his rule It is not merely the expression of an emotion, but the record of an experience and the declaration of a belief For to the majority of these millions the King's Government has given freedom from invasion and anarchy to others it has guaranteed their rights and privileges to others it opens ever widening avenues of honourable employment, to the masses it dispenses mercy in the hour of suffering, and to all it endeavours to give equal justice immunity from oppression, and the blessing of enlightenment and peace To have won such a dominion is a great achievement To hold it by fair and righteous dealing is a greater To weld it by prudent statesmanship into a single and compact whole will be and is the greatest of all

Such are the ideas and aims that are embodied in the summoning of this Coronation Durbar It is now my duty to read to you the gracious message which His Majesty has desired me to convey to his Indian people —

"It gives me much pleasure to send a message of greeting to my Indian people, on the solemn occasion when they are celebrating my Coronation Only a small number of the Indian Princes and representatives were able to be present at the Ceremony which took place in London, and I accordingly instructed my Viceroy and Governor General to hold a great Durbar at Delhi, in order to afford an opportunity to all the Indian Princes, Chiefs, and Peoples, and to the Officials of my Government, to commemorate this auspicious event Ever since my visit to India in 1875, I have regarded that Country and its Peoples with deep affection and I am conscious of their earnest and loyal devotion to my House and throne During recent years many evidences of their attachment have reached me and my Indian Troops have rendered conspicuous services in the Wars and Victories of my Empire

"I confidently hope that my beloved Son, the Prince of Wales, and the Princess of Wales, may before long be able to make themselves personally acquainted with India and the Country which I have always desired that they should see and which they are equally anxious to visit Gladly would I have come to India upon this eventful occasion myself had this been found possible I have, however sent my dear Brother the Duke of Connaught, who is already so well known in India, in order that my family may be represented at the Ceremony held to celebrate my Coronation

"My desire, since I succeeded to the Throne of my revered Mother, the late Queen Victoria the First Empress of India, has been to maintain unimpaired the same principles of humane and equitable administration which secured for her in so wonderful a degree the veneration and affection of her Indian Subjects To all my Feudatories and Subjects throughout India I renew the assurance of my regard for their liberties, of respect for their dignities and rights of interest in their advancement and of devotion to their welfare, which are the supreme aim and object of my rule, and which, under the blessing of Almighty God, will lead to the increasing prosperity of my Indian Empire, and the greater happiness of its People'

Princes and Peoples of India, these are the words of the Sovereign whose Coronation we are assembled to celebrate They provide a stimulus and an inspiration to the officers who serve him and they breath the lessons of magnanimity and good will to all To those of us who, like my colleagues and myself, are the direct instruments of His Majesty's Government they suggest the spirit that should guide our conduct and infuse our administration Never was there a time when we were more desirous that that administration should be characterised by generosity and lenience Those who have suffered much deserve much and those who have wrought well deserve well The Princes of India have offered us their soldiers and their own swords in the recent campaigns of the Empire and in other struggles, such as those against drought and famine they have conducted themselves with equal gallantry and credit It is difficult to give to them more than they already enjoy, and impossible to add to a security whose inviolability is beyond dispute Nevertheless, it has been a pleasure to us to propose that Government shall cease to exact any interest for a period of three years upon all loans that have been made or guaranteed by the Government of India to Native States in connection with the last famine and we hope that this benefaction may be acceptable to those to whom it is offered Other and more numerous classes there are in this great country to whom we would gladly extend and to whom we hope before long to be in a position to announce relief In the midst of a financial year it is not always expedient to make announcements or easy to frame calculations If, however the present conditions continue, and if, as we have good reason to believe we have entered upon a period of prosperity in Indian finance, then I trust that these early years of His Majesty's reign may not pass by without the Government of India being able to demonstrate their feelings of sympathy and regard for the Indian population by measures of financial relief, which their patient and loyal conduct in years of depression and distress renders it especially gratifying to me to contemplate I need not now refer to other acts of consideration or favour which we have associated with the present occasion since they are recorded elsewhere But it is my privilege to make the announcement to the officers of the Army that henceforward the name of the Indian Staff Corps will cease to exist and that they will belong to the single and homogeneous Indian Army of the King

Princes and Peoples, if we turn our gaze for a moment to the future, a great development appears with little doubt to lie before this country There is no Indian problem, be it of population or education or labour or subsistence, which it is not in the power of statesmanship to solve The solution of many is even now proceeding before our eyes If the combined arms of Great Britain and India can secure continued peace upon our borders, if unity prevails within them, between princes and people, between European and Indian and between rulers and ruled and if the seasons fail not in their bounty, then nothing can arrest the march of progress The India of the future will under Providence not be an India of diminishing plenty, of empty prospect, or of justifiable discontent but one of expanding industry, of awakened faculties of increasing prosperity, and of more widely distributed comfort and wealth I have faith in the conscience and the purpose of my own country and I believe in the almost illimitable capacities of this But under no other conditions can this future be realised than the unchallenged supremacy of the paramount power and under no other controlling authority is this capable of being maintained than that of the British Crown

And now I will bring these remarks to a close It is my earnest hope that this great assemblage may long be remembered by the peoples of India as having brought them into contact at a moment of great solemnity with the personality and the sentiments of their Sovereign I hope that its memories will be those of happiness and rejoicing, and that the reign of King Edward VII, so auspiciously begun, will live in the annals of India and in the hearts of its people We pray that, under the blessing of the Almighty Ruler of the Universe, his sovereignty and power may last for long years, that the well being of his subjects may grow from day to day, that the administration of his officers may be stamped with wisdom and virtue, and that the security and beneficence of his dominion may endure for ever

Long live the King, Emperor of India!

STATE BANQUET AT DELHI, 1ST JANUARY 1903

[On the evening of Thursday the 1st January 1903 His Excellency the Viceroy entertained at a State Banquet in his Camp at Delhi His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and a large and distinguished Company His Excellency in proposing the toast of the King Emperor after dinner spoke as follows —]

Your Royal Highnesses, Your Excellencies My Lords, and Gentlemen,—I rise to propose the health of His Majesty the King Emperor of India This afternoon we carried through I hope with success, the great ceremony that had been devised for the celebration of His Majesty's Coronation in this country and the spectacle was one that must have stirred the heart of every beholder It brought home to every European or Indian inhabitant of this land the vivid reality of the constitution under which we live and by which a far away and invisible mainspring guides with resistless energy and power every movement of this vast political machine and I hope that it may also have impressed our various illustrious visitors and guests with the conviction that this Indian possession of His Majesty is no mere dead weight tied on to the heels of the British Empire but a Dominion a Continent an Empire by itself rich in its own personality and memories self confident in its own strength and aglow with abundant potentialities for the future To be King of the United Kingdom and of the British possessions beyond the Seas is a great and noble title But to be Emperor of India is in no respect less, and is in some respects greater For powerful Empires existed and flourished here while Englishmen were still wandering painted in the woods, and when the British Colonies were wilderness and jungle and India has left a deeper mark upon the history, the philosophy, and the religion of mankind than any other territorial unit in the universe That a British Sovereign should in the fulness of time have been able to do what no predecessor of his ever accomplished what Alexander never dreamed of, what Akbar never performed namely, to pacify unify and consolidate this great mass into a single homogeneous whole, is, in my judgment, the most impressive phenomenon in history and the greatest wonder of the modern world

Your Royal Highnesses Your Excellencies, and Gentlemen I venture to say that but one regret has filled all our minds here to day It is that His Majesty the King Emperor has not been able to be present here in person to receive the homage of his loyal Feudatories and the acclamations of his Indian people There is, indeed, no necessity for an Emperor of India to come out here to be crowned His Majesty was our acknowledged and sovereign lord as soon as the throne was vacant nearly two years ago But India would dearly have loved to see the face of her Emperor and to listen to his voice and some day we may hope that as time and distance continue to dwindle under the magic finger of science, it may be found possible for the Viceroy on some future occasion like the present to be eliminated as a superfluous phantom and for the real figure to appear upon the scene

However that may be we are met here in honour of a Sovereign who, though he may be absent in person, is with us in spirit and whose royal message, which I had the privilege of reading this afternoon shows how proud he is of the allegiance and how devoted to the interests, of his Indian people At the Durbar it was my duty to address more particularly the various classes of His Majesty's Feudatories and subjects who had assembled to render him their homage and to listen to his words But the presence at this table here to-night of so many illustrious representatives of foreign Powers and of eminent persons from all quarters of the globe, enables me to point to the fact that the possession of India draws with it other and outside responsibilities, and brings us into relation, I am glad to say, peaceful and amicable relation with all the Powers and Principalities of the East We are honoured here by the company of a distinguished representative of the great and allied Empire of Japan, and by an Envoy from that enlightened monarch the King of Siam and at our Durbar there were present to-day the Envoys or representatives of our friend and ally the Amir of Afghanistan of the friendly Kingdom of Nepal, and of the Sultan of Muscat Among our guests are the Governors-General of the Indian possessions of two powerful and allied nations, France and Portugal with whom our relations are those of unbroken peaceful ness and concord Further, there have appeared for the first time at a gathering such as this, representatives of those great British Colonies beyond the seas, Australia and South Africa, whose star is destined to rise ever higher and higher, and whose Governments, as time passes on, must be brought into still closer connection with our own Finally, we have here prominent Members of the Imperial Legislature, of the British Lords and Commons who have journed across the ocean to join hands with us in this great ceremonial I think I am entitled, therefore, to claim that it is no mere local celebration, but a great and Imperial solemnity of far reaching interest and application, that we have been enacting to-day and it is before an audience that is typical of all that is best in the British Empire, of our established dominion in Asia, of the friendly sentiments of our neighbours, and of the sympathetic regard of our own kith and kin across the seas, that I now propose my toast

I give you all, Gentlemen, with feelings of profound respect of devotion, and of enthusiasm, the health of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India

[The toast was drank with all honours

The Viceroy then rose to propose the health of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught His Excellency said —]

Your Royal Highnesses, Your Excellencies, My Lords, and Gentlemen,—There is only one other toast that I shall present to you this evening I said just now how greatly His Majesty the King Emperor had regretted that he could not be present here in person at the celebration of his own Coronation But as this was impossible His Majesty took the one step that, had there been a plebiscite on the subject in India, we should all have voted for unanimously—namely, he deputed a member of the Royal Family a near relative of his own, to represent his family on this occasion and—the Prince and Princess of Wales finding it impossible to visit India in the present winter, though we hope that that is an honour only for a little while delayed—His Majesty's choice fell upon his Royal brother the Duke of Connaught whose presence at the ceremony to day, and here again to-night is regarded by all of us with quite exceptional pleasure and delight These are our feelings, both because we regard His Royal Highness's visit as testifying in the most unmistakeable way to the attitude and interest of the Sovereign, and also because there is no Prince, I might go further and say no officer—for after all His Royal Highness has been one of ourselves and has served the Crown in India—who has more endeared himself to the people of all classes in this country to soldiers and civilians to Europeans and Natives, than His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught He comes back to us therefore not merely as the delegate of our illustrious Sovereign but as the old friend whom all India reveres and loves and if I may be permitted to diverge for one moment from the strict track of my toast, I would add that these sentiments on our part are enhanced by the knowledge that His Royal Highness has brought with him the gracious Princess whose popularity in India is not second even to his own May I also say though it is not perhaps absolutely germane to my toast, with what pleasure we see here another member of the Royal Family His Royal Highness the Grand Duke of Hesse himself a reigning sovereign and a grandson of our late Queen who has honoured us by joining our company, and whose presence is a compliment and a delight to us all

And now, to revert to the subject of my toast, I hope that His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will carry away to His Majesty the King a favourable impression of the prosperity and loyalty of his great Indian dominion I can assure him that we regard it as the highest honour that he should have come out to be with us on this momentous occasion When our Delhi functions are over we hope to arrange for him a pleasant tour through the scenes and among the people to whom he is so much attached and when he sails away from our shores I hope that India will always keep the firm and agreeable resting place in his memory that the Duchess and he already occupy and will by their present visit confirm in the affections of Europeans and Indians alike in this country

Gentlemen I ask you to join with me in drinking the good health, pleasant journey, and safe return of our illustrious guest His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught

[The toast was drunk with enthusiasm

His Royal Highness who, on rising to respond to the toast was very warmly received, said —]

Your Excellencies Your Royal Highnesses My Lords and Gentlemen—I am indeed very sensible of the very kind manner in which you have proposed my health on this great and auspicious day I can assure you that it was a great pleasure and satisfaction to myself when His Majesty the King informed me that it was his wish to send me out to India for the Coronation Durbar to represent his own family I never expected that I should have such good fortune My soldiering days now are cast in a very different climate Ireland is a very different place from India, and Dublin is a very different place from Delhi, and I was never more astonished than I was on being told that I should come out to India again It is a great pleasure to me to come—a pleasure to come again to a country to which anybody at all interested and having served the Crown in it must feel deeply attached

There is also the feeling—I must say a somewhat sorrowful one—that when I was here before I had the good fortune to serve under three Viceroys and two Commanders in Chief, and that now I am no longer connected with India, except in my heart But I think it requires very little assurance from me that I do and always shall, take the very deepest interest in everything that affects the happiness and prosperity and the greatness of His Majesty's Indian Empire

I have many friends here, both British and Native, and to see them again—to see them well and getting on in the world—is a great satisfaction to me and what specially gives me pleasure is to meet the Native Army once again As you know, Sir I was first connected with the Bengal Army, as it was then, in this Command—the Meerut Division—and with that of the Rawal Pindi Division after that for nearly four years I had the Command of the Bombay Army, and, therefore, I may say that my interests are Indian and not confined to one Presidency or another But during the twelve years since I was in India, the Indian troops have taken their share in the defence of our frontiers and of our interests both in India and beyond the seas, and I am happy to think that whether it was in Africa whether it was in China or whether it was on the frontiers of India, every branch of the Indian Army has known how to maintain its reputation and I can say with confidence that the Indian Army is respected by the armies of all other nations It is a bad day for any Army when it does not get the chance of active service, and it would be especially so for the Indian Army if they were to be locked up year after year in their own country However, this is a slight digression from the toast May I be allowed to say for the Duchess of Connaught that she equally with myself rejoices to be again in India, and that she was very proud to be present at the ceremony of to-day and may I also, with reference to Your

Excellency's remarks about my nephew, the Grand Duke of Hesse, say how highly he appreciates the pleasure of visiting India and of being your guest, and further may I, on this New Year's Day, tell you, Lord Curzon how grateful we all are for your great hospitality and for the very kind and cordial welcome you have given us

I thank you all, Gentlemen, for the kind manner in which you have drunk my health

REPORT BY THE SPECIAL MAGISTRATE, CORONATION CAMP, DELHI

The cases decided between the 22nd November 1902 and the 31st January 1903 were as detailed in Appendix

Considering the very large numbers of people in and near the Camps, the total number of cases, viz 196 reads very well Out of these no less than 187 were of a trivial nature and were tried summarily leaving only nine regular trials

2 Only two cases against soldiers came before me In one case the man was convicted of running off with money from a gambling den and in the other a soldier was charged with causing the death of a native This man was acquitted on appeal, having been convicted under section 304A Indian Penal Code by the Magistrate (causing death by a rash act)

3 Looking to the enormous numbers of soldiers at Delhi during the Durbar period this speaks well for the behaviour of the British troops, under circumstances of considerable temptation

4 I had exceptional opportunities of watching the out door work of the Punjab Police, and I was much struck at the very good work carried out by them, often under circumstances of extreme difficulty, especially as regards the regulation of traffic

REPORT ON THE MEDICAL AND SANITARY ARRANGEMENTS, AND ON THE HEALTH OF THE CORONATION DURBAR CAMPS

General

In submitting this short report on the Sanitary and Medical History of the Central and Provincial Camps of the Coronation Durbar it is satisfactory to be able to note that from the point of view of health, as well as in other respects the assemblage has been a remarkable success

The collection of such an enormous number of natives from all parts of India on one spot, which rendered the importation of many cases of disease not only possible but probable was effected with the occurrence of a few cases of plague only which could be attributed to importation These cases were all isolated and did not act as foci for the spread of the disease This immunity was owing to the excellence of the arrangements for the selection and inspection of all natives so carefully devised and carried out by the various Provincial Governments, and by the Officials of the various Native States, and to the efficient Railway Plague Inspections on all the lines entering Delhi

Weather

The weather also contributed greatly to the good health of the Durbar, both through the absence of rain, so usual at that season and from the fact that the temperature was, for most of the time, from five to ten degrees above the mean

Difficulties to be met

The difficulties to be contended with in the creation of a large town of about 100,000 inhabitants with four suburbs of from five to ten thousand inhabitants each on a bare plain among the fields and the arrangements for the adequate supply of food water, hospital accommodation, conservancy, etc, for them, were necessarily great It therefore speaks volumes for the forethought and organising powers of the officials who have been toiling for the past six months at the formation of the camps, that all the arrangements worked so perfectly, and that no hitch occurred

Food

There was abundance of food and the establishment of a public market by the Supply and Transport Department prevented prices in Delhi from rising much if at all above the normal

Water-supply

The supply of water in the Central Camps was unlimited Drawn from the Jumna above Delhi it was passed through the filter beds of the Delhi water works, and distributed through all the camps in pipes so that contamination was impossible

In the Provincial and Native Chiefs Camps which were too far from the Jumna for a pipe supply to be arranged for (except in the case of the Punjab and Rajputana Chiefs Camps where pipe water was supplied) wells were dug by the Durbar authorities, minute instructions were drawn up by the Administrative Medical and Sanitary Officer for the regulation and safeguarding of these wells by the supply of special vessels for the withdrawal of water, and by the posting of special guards over them to prevent chance contamination by unauthorised individuals

The abundant supply of water enabled the Durbar authorities to combat and to a great extent remove the nuisance and discomfort arising from the dust which is always so bad in Indian camps, by watering all the main roads Roads within camp limits were kept watered by the camps themselves

Medical and Sanitary Staff

The Medical and Sanitary arrangements were under the control of Lieutenant Colonel C J Bamber, I M S, Sanitary Commissioner of the Punjab, as Administrative Medical and Sanitary Officer, with Major F Wyville Thomson, I M S as Special Health Officer and Captain C H James, I M S as Special Plague Officer Under these there was a staff of two Assistant Surgeons and eight Hospital Assistants

Arrangements for each Camp

In addition to the above Durbar Staff the Camp of each Provincial Government and Native State brought its own Medical Officer and Subordinates with tents and equipment for a small hospital capable of treating ordinary cases of sickness up to three per cent of the population of each camp, with arrangements to extend up to seven per cent if necessary Daily sick reports were furnished to the Administrative Medical Officer by each camp from the 20th December to the 10th January

Out-door Dispensary

An out-door dispensary was established in the Central Camp in charge of a Hospital Assistant for the treatment of natives employed on the Durbar work from June 1902 In November it was removed to a supply house on the Alipur Road, where an Ambulance Station was also arranged The latter was luckily never required, as owing to the excellent police management of the traffic no serious carriage or other accident was reported Considering the very crowded state of the main roads, this was most satisfactory

This Dispensary proved very useful, and was largely attended, 5 000 cases being treated between the end of June and the end of January

Civil Followers' Hospital

In November a Civil Followers Hospital of 32 beds was opened near Chandrawal village for all natives not otherwise arranged for, and any overflow cases from the Central Camps It was built of thatched huts, and completely equipped with medicines and appliances, and had a staff of two Hospital Assistants and the usual servants

Separate arrangements for the segregation and treatment of Infectious Diseases were made by the Durbar Medical Staff, who kept this branch under their own control, medical officers of Provincial Camps being directed to report all such cases to the Health or Plague Officer for removal to a Segregation Hospital.

Infectious Diseases.

To enable any outbreak of plague to be effectually dealt with, Special Plague Regulations for the Durbar area were issued by the Punjab Government, under Section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act (III of 1897), giving the Central Committee general control over plague operations and detailing the steps to be taken and rules to be observed on the appearance of plague by the officials deputed by them

Special Plague Regulations

Four Segregation Hospitals consisting of thatched huts of matting plastered over with mud and fully equipped with beds blankets, cooking vessels, lamps, etc were erected at four different points

Segregation Hospital

One near Azadpur village was for cases occurring in the Central and Punjab Chiefs' Camps It consisted of two wards for the accommodation of 38 plague patients, two wards of 4 beds each at some distance apart for cholera or small pox, observation ward, dispensary store room, servants quarters etc, and a number of small huts for the segregation of contacts It had a staff of one Hospital Assistant, Compounder, Matron, Bhisti, Sweeper and Cook

Similar but slightly smaller Segregation Hospitals were erected about a quarter of a mile from the Bombay and Rajputana Chiefs Camps respectively, and another on the Rohtak Road which was intended for cases coming from the Central India and United Provinces, Baroda Mysore Burma, Bengal and the other camps up to the Pembarn Bridge Each of these was in the charge of a Hospital Assistant with a staff of servants

Of the two Assistant Surgeons employed one was stationed at the Segregation Hospital at the Bombay Provincial Camp and the other at the out door Dispensary on the Alipur Road The latter was in charge of the Postal and Telegraph Establishments and with the assistance of another Hospital Assistant, made a daily sanitary inspection of the Central Camps

The instructions given to the medical officers of camps were that on the appearance of any illness suspected to be of an infectious character they were to take immediate steps to isolate the case temporarily on the outskirts of their camp, and to inform the Durbar Medical Authorities who would inspect and if necessary remove the patient and contacts to a Segregation Hospital and carry out the required disinfection

Instructions regarding infectious cases

Most fortunately the above arrangements were never severely taxed, owing to the immunity of the Durbar from plague and other infectious diseases

Only ten cases of plague occurred altogether in eight different camps They were all menial natives and recent arrivals save one They came in good health, but were evidently incubating the disease and sickened from a few hours to a few days after arrival The one exception was a man in the Bharatpur Imperial Service Transport, who had been a month in camp The source of his infection could not be traced

Plague cases

Although there were thus eight separate foci for causing plague distributed widely over the camps, in no instance did a second case to low the original one This was doubtless due to the open air life in tents to the prompt recognition of the disease, and to the rapidity with which preventive measures were taken It also supports the accepted theory that plague need not be feared in camps and that the turning out of the inhabitants of infected villages into camp is a certain method of arresting the disease

The ten cases of plague occurred in the following places —

Their distribution

Three coolies, who had arrived from Amritsar a few days before, were attacked simultaneously early in November

They were living along with fifty others in an old building in the Baroda Central Camp on the King's Road The sick men were removed and the contacts segregated No further cases occurred The building was disinfected, and the doorways built up One case was severe, the other two mild They all recovered

Single fatal cases occurred at the Punjab Chiefs', Baroda Provincial, Central India Chiefs, Volunteer, Transport Lane, and the Bharatpur Imperial Service Corps Camps A plague-stricken man was found on the road near Azadpur by Captain James He died and no information about him could be obtained

With regard to other infectious diseases the Durbar was practically free from them No cholera appeared and there were five cases of small pox confined to the Military Camps, which were under the control of the Military Authorities

Other infectious diseases

As for general diseases the camps were very healthy Owing to the warm weather and freedom from rain and cold winds, chest diseases and pneumonia were not frequent or severe Camps coming from Southern India were warned of the necessity to bring extra warm clothing for their followers and the large number of sweepers employed in the Conservancy Department were provided with blankets and tents. With neglect of these precautions, and adverse conditions of weather the mortality from pneumonia among the followers in such a gathering might be very severe

Number of cases

The total number of cases treated in the Chandrawal Civil Followers' Hospital and reported by the Medical Officers of the different camps (excluding all the troops) for the period from the 20th December to the 10th of January, is given below but as the Medical Officers in many instances included their out patients in the returns, the figures shew a large excess over what were really serious cases in hospital—

	Cases	Deaths
Malarial Fever	1,534	4
Pneumonia	365	22
heat Diseases	1 570	11
Dysentery and Diarrhœa	548	3
All other causes	2,828	29
Total	6 875	69

Conservancy

Success of Arrangements

The Conservancy arrangements, devised and carried out by Lieutenant Colonel Thornhill Executive Sanitary Officer and Special Magistrate for the Durbar were a perfect success It is only when one is actually concerned with this department that the magnitude of the task can be appreciated, and the greatest praise which can be bestowed on it was as happened in this case, that things worked so smoothly and unobtrusively that they passed unnoticed In no case was any objectionable sight or smell noticed nor was a single serious complaint made A liberal supply of latrines and of removal staff and plant insured the rapid disposal of the night soil and no accumulation ever occurred Special roads metalled and lighted, were made to the trenches on which the carts worked all night so that they were never in evidence

Removal System

The Removal System was carried out in the whole of the Central Camps and in the greater part of the Military Camps This meant the removal and burial every night of the soil from an estimated population of 100,000 people Trenches were dug at three spots on the outskirts of the camps to which the night soil was removed either in Crowley's carts or the iron receptacles were removed bodily on trollies drawn by bullocks emptied washed, and brought back

Trench

The trenches were in the form of shallow pits one foot deep The earth removed in digging them was pulverised by wooden mallets, and heaped on the side so that as soon as a cart of filth was emptied into the trench spreading itself out to a depth of about three inches, the powdered earth was immediately thrown on the top No smell was noticeable except when the carts were actually being emptied It never penetrated through the earth, and the absence of flies from the pits testified to the thoroughness of the system The carts or receptacles were then washed with Condy's Fluid or Phenyle and the washings poured into a separate pit

Latrines

The latrines which were usually made of mat screens were furnished with a special pattern of double iron bucket devised by Lieutenant-Colonel Thornhill These were so arranged with a semi circular iron plate on the top for the feet of the performer that the urine and fæces were bound to pass into their own receptacles, and all soiling of the ground was thereby avoided These buckets were then emptied into the receptacles which were iron cylinders with double lids fixed by a clamp They could be emptied into the Crowley's carts or removed when full on the trollies

Each latrine had a separate compartment for washing in to prevent the slopping of water the natives indulge in

Urinals

It was found impossible to remove the water from the urinals so these were made in the form of heaps or pits full of sawdust They acted perfectly as they absorbed an enormous quantity of urine, and no smell or unpleasantness ever resulted

Provincial Camps Conservancy

The Provincial Camps made their own Conservancy arrangements under the supervision of the Durbar Sanitary authorities a circular with instructions on sanitary matters being issued to them by Lieutenant Colonel Bamber In these camps trench latrines were used, being constructed and served by the camp staff

Numerous Police Patrols round all these camps prevented the soiling of the ground, and any chance contamination was removed from their outskirts by a body of sweepers from the Durbar Conservancy Staff told off for that purpose, under a Native Non Commissioned Officer for each camp as Sanitary Inspector

Central Camps Conservancy

In the Central Camps each camp brought its own sweepers, who were responsible for the tent work and cleaning up of kitchens, stables, etc and for the transporting of receptacles to central depôts, whence their contents were removed to the trenches by the Durbar Staff

Kitchen slops were disposed of in small absorption pits, filled with broken bricks, bath water was poured out on flower beds or lawns, and kitchen rubbish and stable-litter were collected in convenient spots for removal by the Durbar Conservancy Staff in carts

Circulars.

Exact instructions were issued in printed circulars on all the above-mentioned points, and distributed to all Camps by the Medical and Sanitary Administrative Officer and any instance of an insanitary condition in the Central Camps was found to be caused by the neglect of the Camp Authorities to carry out the directions given them, which in many cases were not adhered to as closely as they might have been

Dhobies

The large number of Dhobies employed in the Civil and Military Camps were not allowed to wash clothes inside their camps, or in the Najafgarh Canal The Jumna below the intake of the water works was set apart for their use The Najafgarh Canal was used only for bathing and watering horses

Coronation Durbar, Delhi

Dated the 2nd March 1903

REPORT ON THE POLICE ARRANGEMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH THE CORONATION DURBAR AT DELHI

1 In paragraphs 23 and 24 of the Resolution of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No 949 I A, dated the 7th March 1902 it was directed that the General Police arrangements in connection with the Coronation Durbar at Delhi should be placed under the control of the Punjab Government, and that, as regards the camps of the various Local Governments and Administrations the Punjab Government should enquire direct whether these Governments would prefer to arrange for the protection of their camps themselves or to leave the arrangements in the hands of the Punjab Government

2 Protection of Camps of other Provinces —The Governments of Bengal, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh the Central Provinces and Baluchistan elected to employ their own police for the protection of their camps, while the other provinces desired that the Punjab Government would undertake the responsibility

With the exceptions above noted the protection of the whole of the camps as well as all duties connected with law and order were entrusted to the Punjab Police

It was, however, subsequently arranged with the Government which had placed the protection of their camps in the hands of the Punjab Government that they should supply a small number of police for employment in the interior of their respective camps, but the responsibility for protection from without rested with the police of this province

3 Detective Police —In accordance with the orders contained in paragraph 6 of Government of India Home Department, letter No 640, dated the 20th August 1902, Mr McCracken Assistant to the General Superintendent of Operations for Suppression of Thagi and Dakaiti was placed directly under the Inspector General of Police Punjab, for the control of an establishment of detectives drawn from the police forces of all provinces in India Mr McCracken was subsequently relieved of this duty by Mr H L Kemball

4 Strength of the Police employed —The attached statement A shows the strength of police employed on all duties in connection with the Durbar It will be seen that of the total of—

36 Gazetted Officers,
165 Non Gazetted Officers,
5,031 Sergeants and Constables,

the Punjab Police furnished—

29 Gazetted Officers
105 Non Gazetted Officers
3,761 Sergeants and Constables and the following particulars relate to the duties performed by the latter force

PART I

Strength of the Force and the manner in which it was provided

5 Including two Gazetted Officers of the North West Frontier Province who were associated with the Punjab Police for all duties, the force consisted of—

1 Inspector-General
2 Deputy Inspectors General
17 District Superintendents of Police
12 Assistant District Superintendents of Police

5 European Inspectors
9 Native Inspectors
3 European Deputy Inspectors
88 Native Deputy Inspectors
347 Sergeants.
70 Mounted Constables
3,236 Constables
1 441 Village Chaukidars

Substitutes.—The districts from which the Non Gazetted Officers and men were taken are shown in statement B I, which also gives the number of substitutes enlisted in the places of the constables withdrawn The total number of substitutes was 2 500 they were employed on an average for two months at Rs 7 per mensem

Chaukidars, pay of—The chaukidars received Rs 7 per mensem while away from their villages, and local arrangements were made for their duties during their absence

Period for which the Police were employed—Statement B II gives the dates on which the different parties of Police reached Delhi the period spent there, and the dates of their return to their districts It shows that while the total strength was present from 20th December to 11th January the average for two months was—

20 Gazetted Officers
87 Non Gazetted Officers
3 015 Sergeants and Constables

Strength of Military Police—The services of 20 non commissioned officers and men of British Cavalry Regiments were borrowed from the Military authorities 10 for 16 days and 10 for 13 days

PART II

Distribution and duties of the force

6 Divisions formed—Three Divisions were formed as shown below—

No	Officer in charge
I	Mr H m e yd Deputy I spe to C r l f Police	10	7	1	1	8	47	172	81	1 056	2 1	1
II	Mr Sydney Smith D p ty I p t G n l f Police	5			4		2	8	10	801	108
III	Mr D ford District S p rint nd t of Police		5	4			1	9	11	271	31	1
	Total	17	12	5	5	1	4	187	31	1	1 951	2

The 1st Division was posted to the Central and Military Camps
The 2nd Division to the Provincial and Native Chiefs Camps and The 3rd Division to the City and suburbs of Delhi
Details of the location and duties of each Division are given in statements C I, II and III
The area included in the three police Divisions was about 50 square miles
Protective arrangements in Divisions—In the 1st Division chaukidars were employed in picketing the Ridge and the space to the east of the Central Camps between the Ridge and the Najafgarh Canal, while all duties in the camps themselves were performed by Regular Police
In the 2nd Division the Native Chiefs made their own arrangements for the protection of the interior of their camps the only exception being in the case of the Gaekwar of Baroda, who was supplied with Regular Police for this duty A cordon of chaukidars was posted round every group of camps the pickets being 100 yards apart Parties of police were employed as patrols and to supervise the chaukidars This system of protection worked remarkably well, as not a single case of theft by outsiders was committed
The strength of police in the 3rd Division is inclusive of the force ordinarily attached to the Delhi district This Division was in charge of Mr Dunsford District Superintendent of Police, Delhi
7 Investigation—In accordance with the provisions of the Delhi Durbar Police Act, special police stations were created In the 1st Division there were three such police stations

In the 2nd Division the Provincial Camps were formed into five groups, in each of which a police station was located In the 3rd Division two jurisdictions in addition to the ordinary municipal police stations were arranged for

8 Crime reported—Statement D shows the offences reported between the 15th December and 15th January with the figures for the corresponding period in 1901 1902

Considering the great influx of visitors, the amount of valuables in their possession and the area over which the camps were spread, the remarkably small number of offences in excess of the ordinary crime of the locality was very satisfactory

This result was in a great part due to the activity of the Detective Agency who discovered, in and about Delhi 180 persons from different parts of the country, all of whom had been previously convicted of offences against property Fifty one of the persons were ordered to furnish security and 16 were deported

One case of murder was reported The body was found on the bank of the Najufgarh Canal in a decomposed state The medical report showed that the deceased had several ribs broken but the body was not recognised and no clue to the offender was obtained

9 Regulation of Traffic—The paucity of European Subordinate Officers and the fact that the native police drawn from every district in the province, had had no previous experience in such duties at first caused much difficulty in the regulation of traffic on the main thoroughfares which were crowded with vehicles of all descriptions

I applied to the military authorities for 20 non commissioned officers of British Cavalry Regiments to be temporarily attached to the police from 23rd December, but it was not till 26th December that 10 men of the 15th Hussars were placed at my disposal On 29th this number was increased by 10 men of the 9th Lancers These non commissioned officers and men proved most valuable In the meantime the native police had learnt their duties, and by 1st January the traffic was fairly under control

Gazetted Officers had not only to supervise but also to take an active part in performing these irksome duties

The coachmen of the Native Chiefs and others imagined that they could ignore the authority of the police and it was only by the exercise of much patience and firmness that the regulations could be enforced

10 Motor Cars—In the rules framed by the Punjab Government under section 7 (1) of the Delhi Durbar Police Act every Motor Car had to be licensed by the Inspector General of Police before being used within the area to which the Act applied

I licensed 22 Motor Cars most of which were petrol ones

The points I was directed to pay attention to were the stopping and turning powers of the vehicle the amount of noise it created and the ability of the driver to control the vehicle The conditions of the license provided that the speed should not exceed eight miles an hour, that the vehicle should not be used between sunset and sunrise or on the days of the State Entry, the Durbar and the review of the troops

No accidents occurred which could be attributed to Motor Cars

I attach a list of the vehicles licensed (Statement L)

11 Ceremonials—The attached statement marked F shows the number of police employed on the occasion of the State Entry, the Durbar and other public functions

The reserve intended to provide for such duties was insufficient and men had to be withdrawn from the protection of Camps thus throwing extra work on those who remained in charge On the day of the Durbar the police were on duty from early in the morning till nearly sunset and on the night of the State Ball from sunset to sunrise

12 Parking of carriages—The number of carriages parked on each of the great functions is given in Statement G

The system of parking is explained in the extract from the Carriage Traffic Regulations for 1st January given in Appendix G I

The same system with slight modifications was adopted at all the other Great Functions At the State Ball the carriage ticket numbers instead of being given to the coachmen were affixed to the lamp on the near side of each carriage

The use of carriage tickets of colors corresponding with the flags of the different parking grounds, with block numbers worked very well, and there was no difficulty in ascertaining the position of any carriage on seeking the ticket in possession of the occupier of the carriage

Some non commissioned officers and men of British Infantry Regiments were employed in issuing carriage tickets at the arrival platforms they proved most useful c—

The difficulty in connection with the carriages occurred on the conclusion of the functions when everybody endeavoured to get away at once But directly the main roads were reached, a proper line was established

On the night of the illuminations there was necessarily much confusion when the public rushed to their carriages and blocked the roads of exit There were, however, no serious accidents

On future occasions it would, I think, be better for the fireworks to be viewed from the walls and glacis of the fort rather than from the Jumma Musjid

In 1877 the display of fireworks was held soon after dark, the spectators reached their seats, and their carriages were parked by day light. On the 2nd January 1903, the darkness added very much to the difficulties of the police

13 Accidents —Eighteen accidents to natives were reported as having been caused by carriages or horses Six of them ended fatally in the others the injuries were not serious

Nearly all of these cases occurred in the city and bazars The only other fatal accident was that in which an elephant belonging to the Maharaja of Rewah killed its Mahout

14 Fires —Sixteen fires occurred in the different camps The amount of damage done was slight

The swords of the police employed in Camps had been sharpened so that on the first alarm of fire they could cut the ropes of any neighbouring tents and thus prevent the fire from spreading

15 Lost property —One hundred and fifty eight articles were reported lost, of which all but 90 were recovered

PART III

HEALTH AND CONDUCT OF THE FORCE

16 Health —Of the 3,263 officers and men of the Punjab Police deputed from other districts, 135 were admitted to hospital there were eight deaths all from pneumonia

Of the 1,441 chaukidars 15 were admitted to hospital, and 6 died

The Civil Surgeon of Delhi placed at my disposal four hospital assistants, two of whom were employed in visiting the police in the different Camps

Two Gazetted Officers, Messrs Dunsford and Baskett, were on the sick list for some days

17 Tents for the Police and Chaukidars —Particulars of the tents used are given in Statement H Nearly every serviceable tent in possession of the Department was sent to Delhi

Mr Rundle District Superintendent of Police, was appointed Quartermaster from 1st November Prior to that date, Mr Cocks, Assistant District Superintendent, acted in this capacity

The Quartermaster had to receive and distribute all tents to arrange for the carriage of the luggage of parties of police on arrival and departure from Delhi and to draw and distribute the pay of the force

18 Conduct of the Force —There was only one complaint of incivility on the part of the police Discipline was well maintained, and the conduct of the police and the chaukidars was excellent His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab authorised a reward of Rs 1 000, which with a similar sum given by the Central Committee, and Rs 250 by the officer in charge of Visitors Camp No II, was distributed among the constables, each man receiving 10 annas

The officers and men worked with much spirit The duties of the officers were irksome and often required the exercise of much patience and good temper

19 Notice of Officers —When all did well it is invidious to make distinctions, but I must mention the names of Messrs Hammond and Sydney Smith, Deputy Inspectors General, also of Mr French who held charge of the 2nd Division till 15th December Mr Lake, my Personal Assistant, in addition to his ordinary duties, controlled traffic on several occasions

Although the police of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh Bengal, Central Provinces and Baluchistan took no part in the duties connected with law and order they guarded their respective Camps most efficiently

Mr Bramley, District Superintendent of Police in charge of the United Provinces Police was most courteous and anxious to assist on every occasion

Messrs Tomkins and Stead whose services were placed at my disposal by Mr Hastings, C I E, Inspector General of Police of the North West Frontier Province, were employed on all duties and rendered valuable assistance

I wish to bring very prominently to notice the excellent work done by Inspector Sandhe Khan, the Kotwal of Delhi, to whose tact and energy the success of the arrangements in the city was in a great measure due

20 Rewards —I have already recommended that the constables should receive double halting allowances or two annas instead of one anna per diem

The village chaukidars worked remarkably well and as already mentioned, not a single theft was committed by outsiders in Camps guarded by them I recommend that each of the 1 441 chaukidars be given a present of one rupee, and that the families of the six men who died at Delhi should received Rs 10 each

The Gazetted officers of the force had no Christmas holidays, and while other officers were enjoying themselves had to work day and night I venture to suggest that the European members of the force should be given 15 days special privilege leave on the condition attaching to the Mahsud Blockade Leave

DELHI DURBAR LIGHT RAILWAY

The Durbar Light Railway was constructed to facilitate the movement of the crowds of people, European and Native, attending the Durbar to relieve the traffic on the roads and to keep down the price of hired conveyances

The sites for the various camps had been fixed before the construction of a railway was decided on, and the alignment had therefore to be chosen more with reference to the positions of the camps than to considerations affecting the financial aspect of the project

The Railway consisted of a main line laid from near the Kashmir Gate to the Polo Grounds with two branches—one to the Amphitheatre and the other to the Review Ground

A plan is attached giving the general alignment and positions of stations The main line, 4 miles long was a double line with a single line loop at each of the termini The terminal station at Kashmir Gate was situated on the loop and the other six main line stations were on the double line the effect produced being that of a continuous circular railway of 8 miles circumference divided into 13 sections

The length of the Amphitheatre branch from its junction with the main line was 1 78 mile, and the length of the Review Ground branch from its junction with the Amphitheatre Branch 1 45 miles The total mileage was thus—

	Miles
Double line	4 00
Single line	3 23

or 11 23 miles of single track

In addition to which there were sidings for stabling Rolling Stock at Kashmir Gate, aggregating about ½ a mile Both the branch lines were single loops being formed at the termini

The construction presented few difficulties from an engineering point of view, but the crossing of the line over the Ridge and the Bridge over the Najafgarh Canal, especially the former, were somewhat difficult in view of the short time available for the work

The crossing of the Ridge entailed a mile of line on rough rocky ground and the Ridge itself, at the point the line crossed it presented an irregular mass of practically bare rock necessitating a large amount of blasting and the transport of earth for the embankment from a considerable distance The Bridge over the Najafgarh Canal was a timber structure of 3 spans of 10 each on piles driven into the bed of the canal There were numerous culverts but they were all of small size

The gauge was 2 6" the permanent way and rolling stock being lent by the Military Authorities from their Light Railway Reserve stock The General Service wagons temporarily fitted with light garden seats to adapt them to passenger traffic answered the purpose very well

The construction was commenced on August 1st 1902 and the line was opened for passenger traffic at a maximum speed of 12 miles per hour, on December 1st 1902 the work having been done by two Companies of the Sappers and Miners supplemented by civil labour engaged locally and supervised by the officers of the Sappers Companies

The stations consisted of temporary thatched buildings with low platforms enclosed with bamboo fencing Signals and telegraphic communication were provided and the line was worked on the Absolute Block system to ensure the maximum of safety with high carrying capacity The junction of the Amphitheatre branch with the main line was interlocked and the Main Line was fenced in places where it ran close to important roads Signals, fencing material, water column, tanks, stores, etc, were borrowed from the North Western Railway

The trained traffic and locomotive staff was lent by the North Western Railway, but British soldiers were used as Ticket Collectors and Platform Sergeants and Police were provided by the Inspector General, Railway Police, Lahore

The Traffic Department was under the control of Lieutenant C L Magniac R E, of the Traffic Department of the North Western Railway, and the Locomotive Department was in the hands of an experienced Locomotive Foreman, also lent by that railway

A feature of the lines was the large number of level crossings over public and camp roads, there were 32 of these in all, mostly on the main line Gates were provided to prevent accidents, and three of the more important level crossings were in charge of British soldiers in addition to the native gate keepers

Tickets were issued for any distance and were collected, before the passengers entered the train, at the entrance wicket by a British soldier who at once placed the tickets in a locked box, on the principle adopted on the 'Tube railways in London Season tickets were issued for the Durbar period only The fares during the Durbar were Re 1 first and 8 annas second class, but half these prices before and after the Durbar period

The line was opened on December 1st with a few trains daily and a small staff, the number of trains and the staff being gradually increased to suit the requirements of the traffic

In addition to the trains running on the main line a shuttle train was run daily between the Durbar Road junction and the Amphitheatre The Review Ground branch was used on the day of the review only

During the Durbar period trains were run on the main line at intervals of 15 minutes from 8 A M until 10 P M

The maximum number of trains run in one day was 92 on the main line (46 each way) and 16 (8 trips) on the Amphitheatre branch, or a total of 108 trains per day, equal to 406 train miles

The maximum number of passengers carried on any one day was 1 000 first (exclusive of season ticket holders) and 8 354 second class passengers, and the maximum number of tickets issued at any one station was 224 first and 2 657 second class tickets

The line was closed for traffic on January 18th, the total figures for working being as under –

		M I
Total number of train miles run		8,567
		N
Number of passengers carried, first		12 182
exclusive of season ticket-holders, second		89,916
	Rs	A	P
Receipts by sale of ordinary tickets	47,692	11	0
Receipts by sale of season tickets	20 530	0	0
Total earnings	68,222	11	0

The cost of constructing and working the line is given below –

	Rs	A	P
Cost of construction including all staff and Locomotive charges prior to opening, carriage of permanent-way, engines, rolling stock and stores to Delhi	71,430	0	0
Cost of working including staff and stores for working for 7 weeks, dismantling all staff and Locomotive charges subsequent to closing with carriage of permanent way, engines, rolling stock and stores from Delhi	54 462	0	0

The net cost of the railway was thus Rs 57,633-5 but as out of this sum about Rs 30,000 represents carriage charges (paid principally to the North Western State Railway and thus a credit to the Government of India), the actual ultimate cost to the Government of India may be taken at under Rs 60,000

Although the line was open for seven weeks there was a very small traffic before the Durbar, and it fell off again immediately afterwards There was actually only about ten days' heavy traffic, but during these ten days the rush was very great and fully justified the precautions that had been taken in the way of solid construction, expensive trained staff, signals, fencing gates, etc

In other words the line had to be constructed, equipped and staffed on a scale enabling it to deal efficiently and above all safely, with a traffic which suddenly assumed enormous proportions, lasted ten days only, and then disappeared

Having regard to the heavy traffic on the railway and on the ordinary roads crossed by it, the large number of trains it was necessary to run and the arrangement necessary to ensure the proper check and collection of fares, the expenditure on construction and working could hardly have been reduced with safety, whilst it is difficult to see how a larger amount could have been earned

It would perhaps have been better had the positions of the camp allowed of a main line (without branches) some 7 to 8 miles long being laid with the whole of the camps on either side of it, but the condition did not admit of such an arrangement

LAHORE,
The 7th March 1903

H A. L HEPPER, Captain R E,
Special Railway Officer, Delhi Coronation Durbar

NOTE ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE SUPPLY AND TRANSPORT CORPS IN CONNECION WITH THE LATE DELHI DURBAR

The duties devolving upon the Supply and Transport Corps were onerous in the extreme inasmuch as they had to collect supplies for about 60 000 men and 30,000 animals, to say nothing of the visitors residing in the several Civil camps, and when it is remembered that this meant about 17,000 tons of stores, the situation will perhaps be better understood

2 The work was practically subdivided into two main headings—

I —Military Camps which generally drew their supplies under conditions similar to those adopted in field service and

II —Civil camps which were supplied from a Central Market on cash payment

3 As regards I, supply depots were established at Mubarakpore and at Badli from which the troops drew their supplies in a systematic manner while for the meat supply a large slaughter house was erected at Badli, which turned out about 10 tons of meat per diem—during the Durbar period

4 As regards the civil Camps, the Central Market was established upon the assumption that—

4,000 Europeans,
10 000 Natives,
6 000 animals,

would have to be provided for, and although this estimate was somewhat in excess of requirements in consequence of the competition of other agencies, yet on the whole it was not very wide of the mark

5 Two systems were at work in respect to the market—

(a) one the sale of articles in Government stalls, such as meat bread, fuel, fodder and grain, which were drawn from Government stocks and

(b) the other in which certain tradesmen hired stalls at a fixed rate and sold their goods as they ordinarily do In this way the following business were represented —

I —Wine and spirit merchants
II —Chemists and druggists
III —Drapers.
IV —Fish and game salesmen
V —Vegetables and fruits salesmen
VI —Flower salesmen
VII —Restaurants for the natives of India, including both Hindus and Muhammadans

6 About Rs 90 000 was taken over at Government stalls, and although it could hardly be expected that tradesmen would give any idea as to the extent of their sales, it certainly did not fall below this amount

7 Putting aside its general convenience to the Central and Visitors Camps the market exercised a most beneficial effect to the community at large as it most effectually controlled prices in the city which otherwise would have been most exorbitant

8 As it was, the city folk and traders generally tried to undersell it thereby creating a competition most favourable to the general assembly The rates were not high, all things considered, as is shown by the fact that after meeting the expenditure incurred in its establishment and maintenance the nett profit amount to about Rs 1 000

9 It was not the intention of Government by establishing the market to undersell or compete with local trade to any considerable extent, but chiefly for sanitary reasons it was deemed advisable to prevent an influx of townspeople to camps, and this was effected to an appreciable degree—the number of meat hawkers and others being decidedly less than might have been anticipated apart from which, even they had to endeavour to work up to the standard of the market, which in itself ensured a clean and excellent supply under European supervision

W M ALVES, Lieutenant,
for Director of Supply and Transport, Delhi Durbar

No 167 T , dated the 28th March 1903

From—F G MAUBAN, Esq , C I E Director General of Telegraphs
To—The Secretary to the Government of India Public Works Department

WITH reference to your letter No 232 C W —T , dated the 18th of February 1903, I have the honour to report, for the information of the Government of India that while as stated in my letter No 30 A T dated the 12th February 1903 the estimated value of the special traffic earned by this Department in connection with the Delhi Durbar was Rs 1 13 429, the actual revenue earned at Delhi was Rs 1,23 202 excluding the revenue collected at other offices throughout India and Burma, on account of telegrams sent to Delhi It may be interesting to point out that the number of paid telegrams sent from the Delhi offices for the period—1st November 1902 to 31st January 1903—numbered 67,710, whereas the number sent to the Delhi offices from elsewhere numbered 118 670 and that if this latter traffic be also credited to the Delhi Durbar, taking the average value of a paid telegram at 1 3 annas a further sum of Rs 1 00 000 should be added to the figures (Rs 1 23 202) above making a grand total of Rs 2 23 202 It is necessary however to state that it is unusual in calculations of this kind to take into consideration the value of received telegrams

2 Other work done by the Telegraph Department in connection with the Delhi Durbar — To meet the abnormal traffic which was anticipated in connection with the Durbar the following measures were carried out —

(i) Special additional telegraph circuits were arranged from Delhi to Bombay, Karachi Sukkur Lahore, Allahabad Cawnpore and Calcutta, which involved the erection of 2 797 miles of extra telegraph wire for departmental purposes

(ii) A large departmental telegraph office was established in the Central Camp, and it was placed in direct telegraphic communication with the Delhi Government Telegraph Office the 10 local telegraph offices, and with all the principal telegraph offices in India

(iii) Ten local telegraph offices were opened in the different camps enumerated in the margin and necessitated the erection of 1 8 36 miles of extra telegraph wires

(1) H s b r ll y (the V y C p
(2) C Hy H C
(3) V t r C N
(4) B ll S pply D p t
(5) C t l Supply D p t
(6) A dj t M lit y Ca p
(7) B b y th f
(8) C t l I d Chief
(9) My C
(10) R y t Ch f

(iv) An extensive Telephone Exchange system connecting the different camps etc , was established

(v) Additional railway telegraph and telephone offices were opened, and 714 665 miles of extra telegraph wire erected for railway requirements as given below —

Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway	100 540
North Western Railway	324 85
East Indian Railway	139 62
Rajputana Malwa Railway	139 17
Delhi Light Railway	19 48
Total	714 665

(vi) For the Central Camp Telegraph Office and central telephone exchange a large brick structure, 160 feet in length was constructed and supplied with electric light throughout The staff attached to that office numbered about 300 men and accommodation for them was provided to the rear of the office building in the camp consisting of 160 field service tents which were arranged in eight sections each section being complete with its own mess tent cook house and staff of servants

3 The two most important measures taken, and which I consider led to the disposal in a highly satisfactory manner of the unprecedented Press traffic were (1) in arranging for the Delhi Central Camp Telegraph Office to be in direct telegraphic communication with all the principal telegraph stations in India, and (2) the extensive use of the Automatic system of transmission

4 There were no less than 63 special Press correspondents (including nine for foreign Newspapers) at Delhi who contributed messages regularly between the 29th December 1902 and the 13th January 1903, and the fact that all their requirements in regard to their telegraphic correspondence were satisfactorily met may be considered to be a very creditable achievement to the Telegraph Department

5 His Excellency the Viceroy's Durbar speech of 1st January 1903 was telegraphed verbatim to the London Press, and is the first speech in the history of this Department ever so telegraphed

DELHI DURBAR POSTAL ARRANGEMENTS

The actual postal work in connection with the Durbar began on the 8th October 1902, when two temporary Camp Sub Offices were opened for the convenience of the members of the Durbar Executive Committee and other officers who had come to arrange for the Durbar Camp On the 3rd November 1902 Rai Daulat Ram Bahadur, C I E, took up his appointment as Chief Superintendent of Post Offices, Coronation Durbar

2 The two temporary Camp Offices were abolished on the 20th November and in their place the Coronation Durbar Head Office was opened with two subordinate post offices at the Punjab Chiefs Camp and the Central Camp Railway Station Between the 20th November and the 26th December, 16 additional post offices were opened for the Baroda and Mysore Camps the Viceroy's Camp the Bombay Chiefs' Camp, the Rajputana Chiefs' Camp, the Central India Chiefs Camp, Visitors' Camp No 1 the Madras Chiefs Camp, the Commander-in-Chief's Camp, the Bombay Government Camp, the Punjab Government Camp, the North West Frontier Camp Visitors Camp No 2, the Viceroy's Escort Camp the United Provinces Government Camp, the Bengal Government Camp and the Camp, of the Muhammadan Educational Conference At the same time the Delhi Head Office and its town sub offices had their establishments increased in order to meet the fast growing postal traffic

3 On the 23rd December 8 Military Camp Post Offices were opened to serve the troops which had come in from the Manœuvres to join the Durbar Camp These offices had been working during the Manœuvres almost exactly under field service rules and to prevent confusion they were still styled 'Field Post Offices They were severally located at the Camps of the first Cavalry Division, the Mounted Infantry and Field Artillery the Royal Horse Artillery, the Imperial Service Contingent the Third and Fourth Infantry Brigades and Sappers the Fifth and Sixth Infantry Brigades, the First and Second Infantry Brigades and the First and Second Infantry Divisions

4 There were thus in all 27 Post Offices opened to serve the Delhi Durbar Camps with the following establisment —

1 Chief Superintendent
7 Superintendents
5 Inspectors
25 Postmasters of various grades
181 Deputy Postmasters, Assistant Postmasters and clerks
144 Postmen
45 Packers
30 Cycle and Orderly Peons
12 Overseers
73 Sweepers and other inferior servants

The Railway Mail Service was also strengthened by the addition of—

5 Assistant Superintendents and 88 Sorters besides inferior establishments

Twenty one tongas supplied from the Simla Kalka line were employed on the mail service at the Durbar and 80 tongas were furnished by the Post Office for the use of the Foreign and Press Camps

The entire additional postal establishment for the Durbar consisted of 931 men

5 The Coronation Durbar Head Office was held in a large masonry building specially erected for the purpose The various Camp Offices in the Central Camp were in masonry Kiosks and most of the other Camp and Field Post Offices were in tents

6 The Coronation Durbar Head Office comprised three offices The first was the Head Office properly so called, the second was a Base Post Office for the 8 Field Post Offices and the third was the Enquiry Office The business of the Enquiry Office was generally to act as the brains of the Durbar postal system It collected the names and addresses of the residents of and visitors to the various Camps and establishments connected with the Durbar assemblage, received all special instructions for delivery and daily circulated the information thus obtained among the various departments of the Head Office proper It also undertook deposit work and all the functions of the Enquiry Branch of a Dead Letter Office In order to carry out the latter duty it had attached to it clerks who were able to read almost all the Vernaculars of India from Burmese to Kashmiri besides Persian and other languages The Enquiry Office, thus organized, had to deliver many thousands of letters very inadequately or wrongly addressed, and to undertake the task of redirecting the correspondence of the departing visitors It was also in practice used by the general public as a guide to the Durbar Camp and its proceedings, and information of all kinds was largely sought for from it by all classes of the public at all hours

7 Until the 17th December the Head Office made 4 deliveries daily and the outlying Camp Offices 2 deliveries From the 18th December the deliveries were increased to 8 and 4, respectively beginning at 7 0 A M and ending at 6 0 P M Each official Camp was required by the Executive Committee to have attached to it an Enquiry Office, and in most cases the officer in charge of the Camp arranged that the postmen should leave all articles for delivery to the residents in the Camp with the Enquiry Office, the delivery to the individual residents being arranged for by himself By this plan it was possible to keep down the staff of postmen to a minimum and to get through the deliveries more quickly than would otherwise have been feasible There were over 80 pillar letter boxes distributed throughout the Camp and clearances were made from 4 to 7 times a day by 20 cyclist peons.

8 It was not practicable to count the actual number of unregistered articles received and despatched, but it is estimated that the entire volume of extra unregistered correspondence delivered at Delhi on account of the Durbar approached 2½ million articles The extra number of parcels, value payable articles, and registered articles received was more than 76,000, and the extra number of money orders issued was in round figures 28,000 for Rs. 6,68,500 The Comptroller's estimate of the total postal revenue attributable to the Durbar shows a considerable excess over all the additional expenditure incurred

9 The organisation and supervision of all the postal arrangements were carried out by Mr C H Harrison, Officiating Postmaster-General of the Punjab and North West Frontier Province, up to the 12th November 1902, and from that date by Mr C Stewart Wilson, the permanent Postmaster General

11 Visitors' Camps —To supplement the hotel accommodation of Delhi, which is limited, arrangements were made for three Visitors' Camps—

No 1, which was occupied chiefly by visitors from England, was located at Maiden's Hotel and in tents pitched on land adjacent to the hotel building The number of visitors for whom arrangements were made was at first 150, but this number was subsequently increased Applications for accommodation in this camp had to be made to the Military Secretary to the Viceroy

No 2 Camp, which was arranged for 200 visitors, was situated near the Mori Gate of the city, and was under the management of the Executive Committee, applications being dealt with by the Secretary

In both these camps (No 1 and No 2) fully furnished tents fitted with boarded floors were provided, a staff of menial servants engaged, catering arrangements made at a fixed daily charge and conveyances supplied to those who notified their wish to engage a vehicle for the fortnight The articles provided in the tents comprised the usual camp furniture, including beds, mattresses and pillows, but not bed linen and towels The residents of No 1 Camp had their meals served in the dining room of the hotel, and for the occupants of No 2 Camp, as no large mess tents were obtainable, a temporary mess building was constructed containing dining and drawing rooms, a smoking room, card room, and cloak-rooms The camps were opened on the 20th December 1902 and closed on the 18th January 1903 The actual numbers accommodated in each camp were—

	Europeans.	Servants	Total
No 1	180	300	480
„ 2	191	306	497

Appendices Nos 1 and 2 are copies of the notices relating to these camps which were sent to the applicants for accommodation

In Camp No 3, which was situated to the north of and close to the Central Camp, sites only were given to visitors who brought their own tents and made their own arrangements An officer working under the Executive Committee had the ground marked off into convenient encamping sites and arranged for the water-supply and conservancy The number of occupants of this camp was Europeans 355 servants 888, total 1,243

Special officers were appointed to hold charge of each of these three Visitors Camps during the period that they were open and to give the occupants all necessary information and assistance

* * * * * * *

20 Railways —The railway arrangements specially made for the Durbar Camps, in addition to the Light Railway, were as follows —

A branch line was constructed from the Delhi Umballa-Kalka Railway near the village of Azadpur up to the Durbar road, close to which was located the terminal station named the "Central Camp station" This branch line proved of the greatest value The tent equipage and stores for the Central Camp and Military Camps situated east of Azadpur and most of the occupants of the Central Camp were conveyed by it, thus easing the city station of an enormous amount of traffic which, judging from the pressure experienced, the Railway authorities would hardly have been able to cope with satisfactorily

A short length of line was also constructed taking off from the main line just north of the Cavalry Camp station to the Supply Depôt

The following temporary stations were opened near the sites of the Provincial Camps and the Corps troops —

(i) Cavalry Camp station on the Delhi Umballa-Kalka Railway—a rail level passenger station

(ii) Azadpur junction on the Delhi Umballa-Kalka Railway which served the Punjab, Baluchistan, North-West Frontier Provinces, and Provincial Camps and the Imperial Service Troops

(iii) Tannery station on the Southern Punjab Railway, which served the Bengal, Madras, Burma, Assam, Mysore, Baroda, United Provinces, Central Provinces, and Central India Provincial Camps It was also used by the occupants of the Rajputana Provincial Camp who travelled to Delhi by the broad-gauge line

(iv) West Camp station on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway close to the Tannery station which was established for the convenience of the occupants of the Camps just mentioned travelling by the narrow gauge line

(v) Rohilla Serai station on the Rajputana Malwa Railway for the Rajputana Provincial Camp

(vi) Selimgarh station on the East Indian Railway close to the fort to which special trains were run from the Central Camp station on the nights of the State Ball and Investiture

In addition to these stations the Southern Punjab Railway authorities established a flag station on the main line about ¼ mile from the United Provinces Camp for residents of the camps travelling to and from the city

* * * * * * *

25 Water courses—The number and lengths of the water courses utilised by the camps is given in Appendix No 3, the figures in which have been extracted from a statement furnished by the Executive Engineer, Delhi Division, Western Jumna Canal From this table it will be seen that the total length of existing water courses was 14 28 miles and of specially constructed extensions to these watercourses 20 75 miles

* * * * * * * *

47 Accounts of Visitors Camps No 2 and No 3 and of the Polo Club and ground—Abstracts of the accounts of the Visitors Camps Nos 2 and 3 which were managed by the Executive Committee and of the Polo ground are attached (Appendices No 11 to No 13) From these it will be seen that the receipts exceeded the expenditure as noted below —

	Rs	a	p
Visitors Camp No 2, balance credit	4,238	10	5
,, ,, ,, 3 ,, ,,	5	4	6
Polo Club and ground ,, ,,	902	4	8

These sums have been credited to Government The balance credit of Visitors' Camp No 3 is mainly due to the cost of the carriage of the tents supplied by the Ordnance Department for which a provision of Rs 4,000 had been made in the estimate of the camp expenditure having been included for convenience of account in the general charge against the Durbar grant

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE EDEN SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1902

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL

Darjeeling, the 18th June 1903

RESOLUTION—No 1240T—M

The Report on the working of the Eden Sanitarium and Hospital for the year 1902

Read again—

The Report for the year 1901 and the Resolution recorded upon it

The year's record shows that the Eden Sanitarium continues to maintain its popularity The Hospital Section, which has been built and thoroughly equipped according to modern requirements, is an attractive feature of the institution, and many patients with serious disorders, who would not, but for it, have come to the Sanitarium, applied for admission and were successfully treated. No less than 134 cases were treated in the hospital during the year, and of these 14 were admitted during the winter months

2 Notwithstanding the interruptions in railway communication with Darjeeling during the rainy season, which deterred many patients from coming to the hills, the total number of admissions to the Sanitarium during 1902 was 520, of whom 373 were patients and 147 relatives and friends This, though less by 28 than the number admitted in 1901, was considerably above the average of previous years The decrease was entirely in the number of first class patients, as the second class accommodation has been recently improved and has consequently become more popular The daily average number of patients was 47 01 as compared with 32 75 in the previous year In the majority of cases the diseases for which patients were admitted were, as usual, malarial fevers and debility, though a larger number of more serious diseases were under treatment than in the previous years Of the 373 patients treated during the year, 326 were cured 43 were relieved, and 4 died The number of operations performed was 61, of which 60 were entirely and 1 partially successful The free beds maintained for the benefit of convalescent patients from the Medical College and General Hospitals, Calcutta, were continuously occupied throughout the season

3 The financial condition of the Sanitarium has not been altogether satisfactory, and Government has recently had to assist the Committee of Management with a grant of Rs 5,000 The total income during the year under report was Rs 38,481 compared with Rs 37,466, the income of the previous year The total expenditure, on the other hand, rose from Rs 36,911 in 1901 to Rs 44,695 in 1902 The expenditure thus exceeded the income by Rs 6,214, and this excess the Committee were only able to meet with the aid of the grant from Government The large expenditure during 1902 was chiefly due to the furnishing and fitting of the new hospital block This item will not recur, and it is hoped that with a better season in prospect the institution will be able to pay its way during the current year, and that its financial embarrassments will prove to have been temporary only 4 Major A H Scott, I M S, was in charge of the Sanitarium during the year, and it is due to his careful management and to the assistance received by him from the permanent staff that the efficiency and popularity of the institution have been maintained.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Offg Secy to the Govt of Bengal.
